FOREWORD.

THIS BOOK is a veritable boon to foreign students of the Marathi Language. It can be depended upon for reliable and well considered material. Mr. B. V. DEVADHAR is a graduate of languages in the Bombay University. In his college course he studied Sanskrit and Marathi and took honours in the very difficult Sanskrit Language. He has also been a Pandit for a number of years, doing work with Civilians and Missionaries, and latterly in connection with the Language School, along the lines of the Direct Method. He has carefully studied the difficulties met by the foreign student in acquiring Marathi. This book has been written definitely with the idea of meeting the many hard points that constantly face the student desiring to master the use of Marathi.

I have had pleasure and profit in reading through the advance sheets of the Résumé of Marathi Grammar. Each of the different sections has been taken up in a simple and direct way, set forth by illustration, and emphasized in a way helpful to every conscientious student. For example, the beginner invariably finds it hard to understand the changes in the Crude Form. A careful study is made of the varieties of the crude forms under each of the genders, with their exceptions and irregularities. A study of the cases with their many uses, is well illustrated throughout. All the parts of speech, especially the verbs with their moods and tenses, are set before us from the standpoint of the difficulties met with by the student of Marathi.

Mr. DEVADHAR because of his experience as a Pandit has been able to cope with just the problems that so easily baffle the eager student from abroad. Take, for example, his thorough study of the Subjective, the Objective and the Neuter Constructions. He has adapted his material to the needs of his students. All the different chapters have suggestions, that will prove of substantial assistance. Such sections as those on Repetition of words, special uses of common verbs like To have, To ask, To see, To cut, To break, etc. should help students to acquire idiomatic Marathi. The rules on dictation supply a lack that most students have no doubt felt when trying to master correct writing of Marathi.

It ought also to be stated that Mr. DEVADHAR puts forth views of other Grammarians, even when he himself does not agree with them.

At the end of the book Mr. DEVADHAR has gathered together a mass of material under different groups representing ordinary as well as special questions in connection with Marathi Grammar. The student can test up his knowledge of important, idiomatic and grammatical usages by going through these groups of questions.

I take the greatest pleasure in heartily commending this book to every one who is trying to get a practical knowledge of Idiomatic Marathi.

PREFACE.

"Grammar is the humble, oft-despised, but truly loyal hand-maid of thought's best expression"

—Holmes.

This book is the outcome of short notes dictated from time to time, to my students for fixing the variety of Marathi forms and their application. The principle of learning Marathi by the Direct Method once admitted, the necessity of such brief notes to grapple with the catchy and difficult points of grammar naturally follows; as they help the students in testing the correctness of sentences of their own composition, a very necessary factor in the acquirement of any language.

Grammar is a subject which can be variously presented to students by different writers. The present book will be found altogether a new exposition and is prepared in full consultation with all the existing works on this subject for which I must express my gratitude to their respective authors. I place my book along with theirs believing in the saying.

"Where no wise guidance is, the people falleth;

But in the multitude of councillors there is safety."

I am an advocate of the Direct Method of teaching Marathi and many of my students taught according to this Method have secured high honours at language examinations. Fluency in speech facilitates the work in grammar if the grammatical facts are firmly fixed in the memory. "A Start in Marathi" by Mr. E. Fairbank, M.A., is the only book I have come across for teaching this Method and the present volume is intended to supplement it. I will feel well repaid in my efforts if this purpose of mine is to some extent fulfilled.

The questions, set at the first language examination are directed towards testing the students' power of sentence building, while the standard aimed at in the second examination is much higher, expecting students to be conversant even with the difficult, catchy and obsolete grammatical forms. This can be seen by even a cursory glance at some of the language examination questions. It is my purpose to help students to face such questions successfully.

In the 1st chapter, on Transliteration of this book, the vowel अ is shown by e, A, φ, as I want to show the three different sounds of अ. e shows the ordinary pronunciation like that of a in America; A shows the sound of u in butter; while φ shows the sound of e in her. This point will be made clear by the learned Pandits. Advance students of Marathi and learned Pandits are kindly requested to send in their suggestions as to corrections, additions or alterations. I am conscious of the fact that there must be imperfections in this book and their friendly criticisms and suggestions will certainly receive a favourable consideration in the event of a second edition of this book.

My thanks are particularly due to Mr. V. G. ABHYANKAR of Nasik, the famous exponent of the Direct Method, for the training he has given me in this method; to Mr. N. L. HARSHE of the Language School and to Mr. G. F. ENOCH of S. D. A. Mission for making valuable suggestions. My grateful acknowledgments are extended to Rev. E. FAIRBANK, M.A., who has laid me under great obligations by writing a foreword to this book. I also express my great sense of gratitude to the Sisters and Lady Workers of the Convent of St. Mary, Panch Howds, Poona, where I have been Pandit for the last 9 years. The chief credit for the inception of the idea of this book as well as for its preparation goes to them, particularly to MISS A. L. PARKES, but for whose help in reading the manuscript, making corrections and suggesting improvements, the book would not have reached its present acceptable form. Lastly, my sincere thanks are due to Mr. J. R. EASON of the Scottish Mission Industries Press, Poona, for the great interest he has taken in the printing of this book and for placing at my disposal his best workmen like Mr. SUBRAYALU, a willing Foreman, Mr. JAMES, a patient and painstaking compositor and others to whom my best thanks are due.

General Note:—To secure good pronunciation and correct writing, students should hear good Marathi read to them and then they should practice reading aloud; for dictation constant practice in copying stories from books is most helpful. Transcription, reading aloud and formal dictation will secure correct writing.

Examination Questions

1 Explain and illustrate the pronunciation of च, छ, द, ट, ठ, ड.

Ans:— च is pronounced in two ways. It is either ts or ch. The second pronunciation is possible before vowels इ, ई. Words चमचा, चारा, चाबुक, चोर are of the first kind while चित्र, चिमणी, त्याची तुमची are words of the second kind.

(2) च is either ds or dz. Words चर, जसा, जाड, जागा चमने illustrate the first sound while जीम, जितका, जेव्हां, जिव, जिना illustrate the second sound.

These sounds illustrate the dento-palatal and the palatal sounds.

- (3) त and letters of its class are pronounced by putting the tongue between the teeth. eg. तार (tar) तोफ (toph) तीर, तेथें.
- (4) ट (t) is pronounced like t in cat, e.g. टोपी, टाक, टोंक, टेकडी, etc.
- (5) ल is pronounced with the tongue between the teeth e.g. लबाड (labad) लवकर, लोकर, लोक.
- (6) ळ is pronounced like al. In its pronunciation, open the mouth, keep the tongue hanging loose, blow out through your throat for pronouncing ल. Then you will get this sound ळ as in डोळा, काळा, माल, फळ, पिंवळा, कावळा, etc.

II. Write a note on accents in Marathi.

- (1) Words of two syllables have the accent on the first syllable and the last अ is not sounded, e.g., मीठ, पीठ, वीट, खीर, वूट, but this rule is not applicable to words like जरा, कडू, लेडी, माळी, काडू.

- (2) In words of three syllables, the first syllable has an accent, e. g., कमळ, कळप, हरण, but if the first syllable is short and the second is long there is an accent on the second syllable, e. g., नगारा, पसारा, कसारा. So also when the first syllable is long it has an accent, e. g., भाकर चाकर.
- (3) Words with one syllable are accented long जा, ये, पी, हो.
- (4) The vowel preceding the conjunct consonant is accented, e. g., पुस्तकें, खुर्ची, चित्र, छत्री, कुत्रा.

III. Write a note on the pronunciation of अ.

- (1) अ coming at the end of a word is not sounded कर, नोकर, भाकर, जेवण, पचन, वदन.
- (2) It is sounded if it ends a conjunct consonant अन्त, सूर्य, चंद्र, कार्य, लग्न.
- (3) Sanskrit nouns pronounce अ, नर, अश्व, गृह, स्थिर, etc.
- (4) In words of three syllables the अ in second syllable is half pronounced, e. g., बकरा (bakra), परभू (parbhoo), बोलने (bolney).
- (5) In words of four syllables the अ of the second and fourth syllable is not sounded. करवत (karwat), उंदरास (undras).

CHAPTER II.

Substantives

Points:—(1) Gender लिंग, (2) Number वचन, (3) Crude forms सामान्य रूप, (4) Uses of cases विभक्त्ये उपयोग.

Gender.

The first thing that students have to learn in connection with substantives is their gender. In Marathi this question is empirical. No definite rule can be framed to determine the gender of nouns. Among living beings the names of males are masculine (पुल्लिंग); those of females are feminine (स्त्रीलिंग), and names of those whose sex is not definitely known are termed as neuter (नपुंसकलिंग) such as तें कुत्रें, तें मांजर, तें गाढव, तें माणूस.

In Marathi even inanimate things have gender and the classification of those names into three genders depends upon Euphony or size, e. g., small or big. The first means of fixing the gender is to learn the gender-indicating particles like तो (mas.), ती (fem.), तें (neu.) along with nouns, e. g., तो दगड (stone), ती पेटी (box), तें पुस्तक (book). There is still another way of learning gender. viz., to learn the plurals of nouns along with their singular forms.

1. Masc :—तो बाप-ते बाप, तो घोडा-ते घोडे (पुल्लिंग)
2. Fem:—ती भित्त-त्या भित्ती, ती टोपी-त्या टोप्या (स्त्रीलिंग)
3. Neu :—तें घर-तीं घरे, तें अंडे-तीं अंडी (नपुंसकलिंग)

These two methods will be sufficient for fixing the gender of nouns.

In Marathi, gender varies according to size such as:—

तो आंगठा (thumb), ती करंगळी (little finger) तें बोटा (finger), so also the words tree वृक्ष, creeper वेळी, and tree झाड, वाडा palace, झोपडी, cottage and घर house are according to rule but the rule is not always applicable. The words picked up from foreign languages also vary in their gender:—

तो कोट (coat), ती मोटार (motar car), तें टेबल (table).

Common rules to determine genders:—

- (1) Marathi words in आ are masculine such as घोडा (hourse), कुत्रा (dog), डोळा (eye).
- (2) Words in आ derived from Sanskrit are feminine such as शाळा (school) माळा (garland)
- (3) Words with अनुस्वार (a nasal sound) over final ऊं or एं are genrally neuter. e.g. लेंकरुं (child) तळें (tank) जाळें (net)
- (4) Compound nouns take the gender of the last word, viz., आईबाप parents (m), माऊ वहीण (f)

(5) Marathi words ending in ई (long) are generally feminine, e.g., पेटी (box), टोपी (hat), खोली (room), खुर्ची (chair), etc., but if the words show profession or if they are taken from Sanskrit by dropping the final न्, then they are masculine, viz., गवळी (milkman), तेली (oilman), घोबरी (washerman), घिसाडी (blacksmith), हत्ती (elephant) from हस्तिन्, करी (elephant) from करिन्, and पक्षी (bird) from पक्षिन्.

(6) Abstract nouns ending in पणा are masculine e.g., स्वच्छपणा. Those ending in ता are feminine, e.g., स्वच्छता, and those ending in पण or य are neuter, e.g., महापण; सौंदर्य (from सुंदर = beautiful).

Formation of the Feminine.

Feminine nouns are formed from masculine nouns by adding:—

- (1) ई—घोडा (horse) = घोडी; मुलगा (boy) = मुलगी; कुत्रा = कुत्री; बेडक (frog) = बेडकी
- (2) ईण—सुतार (carpenter) = सुतारीण; माळी (gardener) = माळीण; परभू (caste) = परभीण; पाटील (a village officer) = पाटलीण; बाघ (tiger) = बाघीण; सिंह (lion) = सिंहीण.
- (3) आणी—मेहेतर (a sweeper) = मेहेतराणी; मोगल (mogul) = मोगलाणी; शेट (a merchant) = शेटाणी.

(4) अण—गवळी (a milkman)=गवळण, मावळा (brother-in-law)=मावळण.

(5) In addition to these rules there are some nouns the feminines of which are formed irregularly —

(1) शिष्य (pupil)	शिष्यीण
किडा (worm)	कीड
मित्र (friend)	मैत्रीण
बाप father)	आई
काका uncle)	काकी or काकू
मामा (uncle)	मामी
पुतण्या (nephew)	पुतणी
भाऊ (brother)	बहीण
दीर (brother-in-law)	नणंद
जावई (son-in-law)	सून
सासरा (father-in-law)	सासू
बैल (bullock)	गाय
बोकड (he-goat)	शेळी
नवरा (husband)	बायको
राजा (king)	राणी

(II) पिता (father)	माता
जनक (father)	जननी
वडील (father)	मातोश्री
बंधु (brother)	भगिनी
विधुर (widow)	विधवा
पति (husband)	पत्नी

वाध्या (a devotee)	मुरली
पुरुष (a man)	स्त्री
नर (male)	नारी, मादी (with birds and animals)
पुत्र (son)	कन्या
दीर (brother-in-law)	जाऊ
देव (God)	देवता or देवी
बोका (lie-cat)	भाटी
खोंड or गो-हा (bull)	कालवड or गोजी
टोणगा or हाह्या (buffalo)	म्हैस
रेडा	रेडी
डंट (a camel)	सांड
मोर (peacock)	खांडोर
पोपट (parrot)	मैना
वर (bridegroom)	वधु

(6) some nouns are always masculine irrespective of sex viz. साप (Snake), विंचू Scorpion, डेकूण (a bug), while some are always feminine viz. घूस (rat), पाल (lizard), सुसर (crocodile), घार (vulture).

(7) Feminine forms are used to show diminutives गाडा (big cart) = गाडी; पेढारा = पेटी, सोटा (club) = काठी; वाडगा = वाटी (cup).

(8) Some words have different meanings in different genders.

तो मान (respect), ती मान (neck), तें मान (measure), तो पाणी (hand), तें पाणी (water)

- (9) Some words are both masculine and feminine e.g., तो बाग and ती बाग; so also वेळ (time), जिवस (thing), मजा (fun), मध honey, जागा place; while बी and खोड are neuter and feminine. प्रेम (love) is mas.; and neuter.

- (10) Names of languages are used in the neuter gender. त्याने मराठी (n) शिकवें, so also गुजराथी and इंग्रजी but there is difference of opinion on this point as some regard that the words शिक्षण or लेखन or वाचन is understood there.

This list is not exhaustive, so while reading Marathi books, students should learn feminine forms.

Number वचन.

The plural forms of nouns.—

Singular endings	Plural endings.
	MASCULINE	FEMININE	NEUTER
अ	अ बाप	इ or आ भिती, जिभा	एवं घरे
आ	ए घोडे	आ शाळा

ए			ई डोकी
ऐ		या तिवया
ओ	ओ डोहो	आ बायका

General Note.

These are types of nouns and when the gender of a noun is known it should be referred to the above table to find the plural form. The only difficulty is about the plurals of feminine nouns ending in अ because they belong either to भित्त type or to जीम type. Such nouns are to be specially learnt. We give below a few nouns which are common. भित्त (wall) = भित्ति. The following nouns form their plurals like this—बहीण (sister), गोष्ट (story), भाकर (bread), साल (bark), खोड (bad habit), दऊत (inkpot), रात्र (night), चूल् (a fire-place), पेन्सिल (pencil), पाल (lizard).

The second type is that of जीम (tongue). The plural is जिभा. The following are the nouns of this type:—तारीख date = तारखा; कांच glass, झोंप sleep, तार wire, नजर sight, फौज army, बाग garden भूक hunger, मान neck, मौज fun, बहाण shoe, वाट way, बीज lightning, बीट brick = बिटा, वेळ time, साखर sugar, लाट wave, सांड she camel, शिक sneezing, सून daughter-in-law, सोंड trunk of an elephant, हाक calling, खाट cot, माल garland, चिंच = चिंचा, चोंच = चोंचा.

Exceptions and Irregularities.

Masculine Nouns

- 1 Proper nouns ending in अ remain the same.
- 2 Proper names showing relationship and abstract nouns in पणा remain unchanged. e. g., रामा = रामा. काका = काका. (The form काके is used to show contempt) and शहाणपणा = शहाणपणा.

- 3 Sanskrit nouns ending in इ and उ short remain the same in the plural. कवि—कवि (poet).

Feminine Nouns

- 1 Proper names like यमुना, गंगा, काशी, remain unchanged and when changed according to rules they are contemptuously used.
- 2 Some feminine nouns in इ and उ form their plural thus:—बी (seed)=बिया; स्त्री (woman)=स्त्रिया; ऊ (louse)=उवा; सू or सुई (needle)=सुया; जाऊ (sister-in-law)=जावा;
- 3 Some nouns ending in ई or ऊ optionally take या or वा in plural:—आई (mother)=आई or आया; बाई (woman)=बाई or बाया; गार्ई (cow)=गार्ई or गाया; संवई (habit)=संवई or संवया; बाजू—बाजू-बाज्वा-बाजवा.
- 4 Some nouns do not change in the plural, कानू (bye-law)—कानू; जादू (magic)—जादू.
- 5 Nouns ending in स change it to शी in the plural, e. g., म्हैस (she-buffalo)—म्हशी; घूस (rat)—घुशी; रास (heap)—राशी; लस (serum)—लशी or लसा. While नस (a vein) becomes नसा.

- 6 Nouns in शी change to शा:—बशी—बशा (f) saucer ; माशी—माशा (f) fly.

Neuter Nouns :—

- 1 Abstract nouns and names of materials are usually used in the singular number but they may take plural forms when varieties are indicated. मीठ (salt)—मिठें ; पीठ (flour)—पिठें ; etc.
- 2 Some nouns like पाणी, लोणी, and दही do not change in the plural.

Nouns generally used in the plural number.

- (1) खडावा (wooden shoes), (2) मिशा (moustache), (3) हाल (miseries), (4) देवी (small-pox), (5) वडील (father).

Some nouns are generally used in the singular number :—पैसा (wealth), रामा (proper noun), सोने (material noun), etc.

Crude Forms (सामान्यरूप)

Nouns, pronouns, and words used as nouns take case endings with the last vowel inflected as shown below. In Marathi there are eight cases and except the first two, the remainder have their special endings. Nouns are always inflected for case endings and before learning the case endings we will study the different kinds of nouns in Marathi.

Kinds of nouns (नामाच्या जाती) :—

- 1 Common nouns (सामान्य नाम); 2 Collective nouns (समुदायवाचक नाम), e. g., फौज (army);
- 3 material nouns (पदार्थवाचक नाम), e. g., साखर;
- and 4 verbal nouns and gerunds (क्रियावाचक नाम), e. g., बसणे (sitting), take the Crude forms (सामान्य रूप) while 5 Proper nouns (विशेष नाम, e. g., रामा), and 6 Abstract nouns (भाववाचक नाम, e. g., शहाणपणा) remain unchanged before the case endings.

These Crude Forms are sometimes called inflectional bases. Like case endings, post positions and some adjectives like साखा, जोगा are joined to this modified form of the noun.

Now it is time to see how the nouns are changed in the plurals and Crude Forms before adding case-endings.

2 These crude forms have अनुस्वार (a nasal mark) in the plural.

3 Nouns are divided into three declensions according to their crude forms for which the student should refer to higher grammars.

Cases

After a full knowledge of crude forms it is easy to add the case-endings. There are eight cases in Marathi of which the nominative and the accusative have no case-endings and the endings of the genitive case are declinable.

[2] There are some grammarians who do not reckon the accusative and the genitive as cases.

Some grammarians consider that the accusative is divided into two parts [1] inflected accusative [सप्रत्यय द्वितीया] and [2] uninflected accusative [अप्रत्यय द्वितीया]. Others regard the uninflected accusative as nominative and the inflected accusative as the dative case. But this question is not yet settled and there is great difference of opinion.

We think that the case of the direct object is the accusative and that of the indirect object is dative. So in the sentences मी घोडा धरतों, तो घोड्याला धरतो, and तो रामाला पाहातो. The objects are in the accusative case, while in sentences मी त्याला पुस्तक देतों, तो झाडाला पाणी घालतो; त्याला and झाडाला are in the dative because पुस्तक and पाणी move from मी and तो to त्याला and झाडाला; this is the significance of संप्रदान.

The following table gives the names of cases, their endings, and the corresponding post positions used in their places.

Cases.	Marathi names.	Singular endings.	Plural endings.	Meaning	Post-positions.
Nominative	विभक्ति — प्रथमा —	Nil —	—	कारक — कर्तरी	—
Accusative	द्वितीया —	Nil or स, ला, तें —	स, ला, ना, तें —	to — कर्मणी	Nil
Instrumental	तृतीया —	नें, शीं —	नीं, शीं —	with — or by — कणी	कडून, करवीं, द्वारे
Dative	चतुर्थी —	स, ला, तें —	स, ला, ना, तें —	to — संप्रदानी	साठीं, करितां, प्रत, प्रीत्यर्थ, जवळ, पार्शीं
Ablative	पंचमी —	ऊन, हून —	ऊन, हून —	from — अपादानी	पासून, पेक्षां, वरून
Genitive	षष्ठी —	चा, ची, चे —	चा, ची, चे, etc. —	of — संबंधीं	संबंधीं, विषयीं
Locative	सप्तमी —	त, ई, आं —	त, ई, आं —	In — अधिकरणी	मध्ये, आंत
Vocative	संबोधन —	Crude form — ५५११	नो	O ! —	—

These cases express various shades of meanings (कारक). These are chiefly the following :—1 कर्तरी, 2 कर्मणी, 3 करणी, 4 संप्रदानी, 5 अपादानी, 6 संबन्धी, 7 अधिकरणी.

General Note

These endings or post-positions are appended to the Crude forms. In the plural they have an अनुस्वार over them. The endings or the post-positions have the same meanings. The genitive endings are declinable, e. g.,

[m.] त्याचा घोडा—त्याचे घोडे, [v] त्याची गाडी—त्याच्या गाड्या,
[n.] त्याचे पुस्तक—त्याची पुस्तके.

It is very important to understand the right use of cases.

The subject is generally in the nominative or instrumental. The object is in the accusative and the verb always agrees with the uninflected word in the sentence and if there is no uninflected word is always neuter singular. e. g.

- 1 रामा गांवास जातो (Subjective).
- 2 रामानें गाडी आणिली (Objective).
- 3 रामानें मित्रास बोलाविलें (Neuter).
- 4 रामाला काम मिळालें (Objective).
- 5 रामाच्यानें धडा वाचवतो „
- 6 रामानें खटपट करावी „

Points to be remembered.

1 Certain cases (3 and 7) have अनुस्वार which ought to be remembered for correct dictation.

2 The अनुस्वार on genitive crude form has to be pronounced with the proper nasal sound.

3 Nouns of various endings should be declined as shown above to fix them in the meaning.

4 The crude forms should be properly sounded and pronounced.

5 The object of a transitive verb is used in the Accusative case which is inflected with personal nouns and uninflected with inanimate objects and optionally inflected with names of animals, e.g.,

- | | |
|---------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 He brings his boy | तो आपल्या मुलग्यास आणतो. |
| 2 He brings a hat | तो टोपी आणतो. |
| 3 He catches a cow | तो गाय धरतो. |
| | or तो गाईस धरतो. |

6 The termination स of the Dative case is not much used. It is used in कोंकणी language, ला is more common. It is omitted in कामा येणें, कडे जाणें.

7 The terminations for the Ablative are हून, तून and ऊन. Of these हून is used in comparisons, e.g., त्याचें घर माझ्या घराहून मोठें आहे his house is larger than my house. तून shows "out of," e.g., तो घरांतून आला he came out of the house. The ending ऊन is very rarely used. It shows motion from, e.g., घरु ; हात-हातून ; तोंड-तोंडून. तो घरून आला; आरसा माझ्या हातून पडला; तिच्या तोंडून हें मी ऐकिलें. This ऊन is also applied to adverbs and post-positions कोठें=कोठून (from where), so also जेथें=जेथून ; पुढें=पुढून ; मार्गे=मागून, etc.

8 The genitive ending चा is declinable and as such it is adjectival. But some grammarians regard the genitive as a real case and do not call it an adjective, because in the phrase काळ्या कुऱ्याचे दांत teeth of a black dog; if कुऱ्याचे is an adjective of दांत then काळ्या will become an adverb which is absurd.

9 In addition to त ending of the Locative case there are two others, viz., ई and आं but they are limited to certain words. ई is used with words showing place and time, e.g., घरीं in the house; दारीं; ठिकाणीं; जागीं; स्थळीं; आंगीं and सकाळीं; दुपारीं; रात्रीं; गुरुवारीं, etc., जागा—जागीं; लहानपणा—लहानपणीं, दिवस,—दिवशीं.

The termination अं is used with one or two words like पायां on foot, गळां and माथां on head.

A Note on the Case of the direct Object

1 A direct Object is generally uninflected with inanimate objects. शिपाई टपाल आणीत असतो, but sometimes it is inflected and then those nouns are supposed to be personified. This inflection is also allowed in poetry, e.g.,

- 1 सर्व शिपाई सकाळीं आपल्या कामास लागतात.
- 2 देव दुष्काळास घालवितो.
- 3 सुज्ञ लोक सत्यातें जोडतात व असत्यातें सोडून देतात.

2 When the object is a person it is inflected with स or ला, e.g., कण्व ऋषी शकुंतलेला पतीकडे पाठवितो. but sometimes the object is uninflected when there is a little change in meaning, e.g.,

- 1 राजा चोराला मारतो the king beats a thief.
- 2 राजा चोर मारतो the king kills a thief.

3 The names of animals are optionally inflected, e.g.,
दुष्यंतानें पुष्कळ हत्ती धरून ठेवले or
दुष्यंतानें पुष्कळ हत्तींना धरून ठेविले.

4 In the case of some verbs like करणें, समजणें, मानणें etc., the direct object is inflected and the indirect object remains uninflected. In this case the verb ought to be in the neuter singular, but idiomatically it is made to agree with the indirect object, e.g.,

- 1 दशरथानें रामाला राजा केलें or (भावे)

- दशरथानें रामाला राजा केला (कर्मणि).
 2 रामानें लीलेला बहीण समजावें or (भावे प्र.).
 रामानें लीलेला बहीण समजावी (कर्मणि).
 3 मीं हरीला भाऊ मानिलें or (भावे).
 मीं हरीला भाऊ मानिला (कर्मणि).

She read her letter तिने आपले पत्र वाचले.

but the respectful form (where is your book? आपले पुस्तक कोठे आहे?) is admitted as correct.

CHAPTER IV

Adjectives.

Adjectives (विशेषणें) are words joined to a noun to add to its meaning or to limit its application. e. g., भयंकर अपघात; पिवळी टोपी, these adjectives are divided into three principal classes. They are:—

I Adjectives of quality (गुण विशेषणें).

सुंदर, (beautiful) कुरूप (ugly), मोठा, लहान; उंच, ठेंगणा; उदार, चिकू; कडू, गोड; आळशी, उद्योगी; शहाणा, वेडा; काळा, गोरा; etc. Of these adjectives those ending in आ are declinable while others remain unchanged e. g.

If the adjective ends in आ and the word it qualifies is inflected then the adjective is used in the crude form ending in या in all genders e.g. मोठ्या पक्ष्याने पांढऱ्या फुलांच्या झाडावर चांगल्या ढोलीत आपली पिल्ले ठेविली.

II. Adjectives of Quantity

संख्या विशेषणें

Sometimes they are used to qualify nouns and sometimes they are used as nouns and are declined in all cases, e.g.,

- (a) पांच मुलगे झाडावर चढतात, इतक्यांत चार माळी तेथे येतात.
 (b) पांचांनी पंचविसांशीं भांडण्यांत काय अर्थ आहे. या पुस्तकास मी पांचा हून अधिक रुपये देणार नाहीं. पुष्कळ लोक, सर्व or सगळे पक्षी, बहुत कष्ट, etc.

When so declined these numerals have crude forms like nouns, but एक, दोन, तीन and चार have irregular crude forms.

(1) एक:—एका, एके, एकी, एक्या, e.g., एके दिवशीं or एका दिवशीं एका मांजराला एक्या बाईने मारिले.

माळी सकाळपासून पांचव्यांदां आला the gardener came for the fifth time since morning.

General Note on the inflection

Numeral adjectives ending in आ, i.e., from अकरा to अठरा are not declinable, e.g., बारा मुलगे खेळतात. बारा मुलगांनीं तेरा खुर्च्या आणिल्या, etc.

These correspond to adjectival phrases in English.

(1) The bird is on the tree पक्षी झाडावर आहे.

(2) The bird on the tree is singing झाडावरील पक्षी गात आहे.

(a) These are formed by adding ईल-ला-ली-लें or चा-ची-चें to the post-positions or adverbs—

In Marathi the adjectives do not change for degree. The sense is conveyed by adverbs like अधिक (more), अतिशय (most), e.g., अधिक उंच, अतिशय उंच, etc.

(a) Comparative by हून or पेक्षां.

हत्ती घोड्याहून मोठा असतो.

(b) Superlative by सर्वाहून, सर्वापेक्षां (Ablative)

IV. Adjectives are sometimes used as nouns and as such they are inflected.

एका अंधळ्याने दुसऱ्या लांबड्यास खांद्यावर घेतले. मुक्याला बोळातां येत नाही तर बहिऱ्याला ऐकतां येत नाही.

VII. Abstract nouns are formed from adjectives by adding पणा, ता, पण, य—चांगुलपणा, शहाणपण, स्वच्छता, शौर्य.

Important points on Adjectives

I. If the adjective is used predicatively and refers to several persons or animals of the same gender, it agrees in gender and takes the plural number, e.g.,

(1) घोडा, बैल व कुत्रा कधी कधी काळे असतात. (2) घोडी, गाय व कुत्री कधी कधी काळ्या असतात. (3) घोडे, कुत्रे व मांजर कधी कधी काळी असतात.

II. If the nouns so qualified differ in gender, the pronoun ही is inserted after the nouns and the adjective is used in the neuter plural, e.g.,

घोडा, गाय आणि कुत्रे ही काळी असतात.

III. If the nouns are the names of inanimate things the adjective agrees with the last word or is used in the neuter plural, e.g., त्याचा चेंडू व दांडू मोठा आहे आंबा, केळे व नारिंग ही खाक्यास चांगली असतात. राघूचे पाय, पंख आणि घोंच पिवळी नसतात.

IV. An adjective may be used as a noun—

शकुंतलेने बापाला खरे सांगितले, खोटे सांगितले नाही.

V. When the adjective is used after the inflected object it is in the neuter singular, e.g., मुलें शिक्षकाख्य चांगलें म्हणतात. वैद्यानें माझ्या भावाला बरें केलें.

VI. There are some adjectives which are joined to the crude form of nouns. Those are सारखा (like), योग्य or जोगा (fit), पुरता (sufficient), विरुद्ध (against), स्वाधीन (in one's possession), and इतका (so much), e.g.,

(1) माझी टोपी त्याच्यासारखी आहे. (2) तें घर राजाजोगें नव्हतें (the house was not fit for a king.) (3) दूध चहापुरतें नाहीं. (4) जर्मनी इंग्रजांच्या विरुद्ध लढला. (5) तें काम करणें माझ्या स्वाधीन नाहीं. (6) तें झाड घराइतकें उंच नाहीं. (इतका shows equality.)

VII. सा and गा form diminutives of adjectives = लहानसा मुलगा (a tiny boy); लहानशी पेटी; लहानसें पुस्तक.

VIII. डा as applied to adjectives gives them the meaning of contempt, e.g., घाणेरडा (dirty), भिकारडा, etc.

(B) Degree

Comparative रामा मजपेक्षां लवकर चालतो.

Superlative रामा सर्वांहून जलद धावतो.

This is exactly like that of adjectives.

(C) Participles and nouns are sometimes used as adverbs:—

(a) तो खेळत काम करतो; तो बोलत बोलत जेवतो; कुणबी धावत धावत आले; ती बाई निजून पुस्तक वाचते; तो मुलगा जाणून बुजून गडबड करितो.

(b) तो मनुष्य काय दगड लिहितो! त्या बाईने मला एक लेखणी बक्षीस दिली The woman presented me with a pen. त्या राजाने ब्राह्मणांस गाई दान दिल्या. In these sentences दगड, बक्षीस and दान are nouns used as adverbs.

(D) Adjectives ending in आ like चांगला, बरा, etc. are used as adverbs but they are declined according to the gender of the noun:—तो मुलगा चांगला गातो The boy sings nicely, ती मुलगी चांगली गाते The girl sings nicely, तें मूल चांगलें गातें The child sings well.

(E) Sometimes, inflected nouns are used adverbially.—(1) Instrumental तो रागानें निघून गेला, (2) Dative तो रात्रीस वाचीत नाही, (3) Genitive तो रात्रीचा वाचीत नाही, (4) Locative तो रात्रीं वाचीत नाही

Of these sentences No. 2, 3 and 4 almost mean the same. Such words are to be noted in the course of reading. Adjectives like पहिला, मोठा are often seen used like this:—जो पहिल्यानें येतो त्याचा फायदा होतो First come first served. तो मुलगा मोठ्यानें ओरडला म्हणून कुणबी धावत आले.

F. Derivative adjectives are formed from adverbs by adding चा-ची-चें, ला-ली-लें, and ईल, e.g., वरची खोली खालील खोलीपेक्षां मोठी आहे. पुढचा बंगला मागल्या बंगल्यापेक्षां लहान आहे. So also तेथील, तिकडील, पुढील, मधील, etc.

G. Some words like वर, खाली, पुढें, मागें are used both as adverbs and post-positions, e.g., (1) तो मुलगा वर गेला आणि खुर्चीवर बसला. (2) पुस्तक खुर्चीखाली ठेवून खाली बैस.

(3) माझ्यापुढें (in front of) उभा रहा. तें काम मी पुढें करीन (afterwards). (4) मार्गे झालें तें झालें. चेंडू पेटीमार्गे पडला आहे.

H. Adverbs of motion are formed by adding ऊन to simple adverbs, e.g., तुम्ही कोठून आलां? (where from?) तिकडून जाऊं नका; तो माझ्यापुढून गेला, मागून गेला नाही; इंग्लंडांत आगगाडी नदीखालून जाते.

I. Emphatic adverbs = च, ही, ना, मात्र, देखील.

The change of place of मात्र gives different meaning.

(1) मात्र माझ्याच मुलींना स्वयंपाक येत होता (only my daughters knew cooking). (2) माझ्या मुलींना स्वयंपाक मात्र येत होता (my daughters knew cooking only.) तो देखील त्यावेळीं घरीं नव्हता (then he also was not in the house.) लक्षाचेवेळीं देखील माझा भाऊ आला नाही, किंवा त्यानें पत्र देखील लिहिलें नाही.

J. Pronominal Adverbs:—

Post-Positions

Post-positions (शब्दयोगी अव्ययें) are words which are joined to nouns, pronouns, and sentences to show some relation. They are joined to the Crude form of the noun. There is only one case that of करून which is joined to the instrumental singular case-ending, e.g., तो सिंह झाडाखालीं निजला असतां उंदीर त्याच्या आंगावर खेळत होता, तेणेकरून [therefore] सिंहाची झोंप मोडली.

In English the preposition is placed before the noun, e.g., in the box, while in Marathi it is attached to the noun पेटीमध्ये or पेटीच्या मध्ये, the practice of using genitive crude forms is now obsolete.

They also serve the purpose of case-terminations and those that are most common are given, along with the case-endings, in the previous chapter. Many of the post-positions like ठायीं, मुळें, मध्ये, कडेस, are inflected nouns which are now looked upon as post-positions.

Post-positions like भर (full), पर्यंत and पावेतो (until) are joined to nouns expressive of time without the Crude form, such as दिवसभर all the day; सकाळपर्यंत or पावेतो until morning; but पर्यंत or पावेतो (until) applied to names of places optionally take the crude form, e.g., सातारपर्यंत or साताऱ्यापर्यंत as far as Satara.

Some of the adjectives like सारखा, have the force of a post-position, and are joined to the crude forms. Some post-positions like विरुद्ध against, देखत in front of, and स्वाधीन in the possession of, are joined to the genitive crude form of pronouns.

तो मुलगा बापाच्या विरुद्ध बोलला, त्याचा बाप माझे (माझ्या) विरुद्ध बोलला. तें घर माझे बहिणीच्या स्वाधीन नाही. तो माझे (माझ्या) देखत गडबड करीत नाही.

The post-position भोंवतां (round) appears to be declinable, e.g., तो मनुष्य घराभोंवतां फिरला; ती बाई देवळाभोंवतीं फिरते; तें कुत्रें धन्याभोंवतें फिरतें.

Like adverbs, derivative adjectives can be formed from post-positions like:—घरामागचा बंगला; घरामागली खोली; घरामागील बाग, (a garden being behind the house).

By adding ऊन the post-positions are made to show motion, e.g., तो घरापुढून गेला. Post-position (a) वर — रजेवर [on leave], वरदूध [milk not mother's], कामावर [on work], वरपाणी [artificial water], नदीवर, वरकाम, वरचेवर, त्यानें वरवर पत्र वाचलें [he read the letter cursorily]. (b) वरून is very idiomatic.

- (2) तो पक्षी माझ्या घरावरून उडाला the bird flew over my house.
- (3) मी माझ्या भावाच्या सांगण्यावरून एथें आलों Under instructions from my brother I came here.

The post-position पासून signifies (1) distance—नगर पुण्यापासून दूर आहे. (2) Source—मी माझ्या भावापासून पुस्तक घेतलें. (3) Time—तो सकाळपासून येथें बसला आहे.

The postposition पर्यंत 'as far as' is added to adverbs तेथें, जेथें, कोठें, येथें which are supposed to be used as nouns and which drop their final एं e.g. तेथपर्यंत मी येत नाहीं; जेथपर्यंत जावतें तेथपर्यंत जा; तूं मज बरोबर कोठपर्यंत येणार आहेस; येथपर्यंत माझे पुस्तक वाचून झालें.

Conjunctions

(उभयान्वयी अव्ययें)

A conjunction is a word used to join two or more words or phrases or sentences e.g. सहानुभूति व सहाय हे समाजाचे आधारस्तंभ आहेत sympathy and help are the main-stay of society. (2) तो राजा तेथील मनोहर शोभा पाहून व पक्षांचे मंजूर शब्द ऐकून आनंदित झाला (3) माझा भोंवरा जरासा फिरतो आणि मग खाली पडतो.

Kinds of Conjunctions.

(1) Copulative:—आणि, आणखी, व, नी, तो घरीं आला आणखी चाचीत बसला and नी - तो नी मी जातो नी लवकर येतो. Attempts are made to show some distinction between the use of आणि and व but in practice there is no difference.

(2) Disjunctive :— अथवा, किंवा, अगर. all mean 'or' कच किंवा देवयानी यांपैकी कोणीही तेथे नव्हते.

(3) Adversative :— पण, परंतु But e.g. देवयानी घरी होती पण कच बाहेर गेला होता. पुस्तक चांगले आहे परंतु मिळत नाही.

(4) Causative :— कारण, कीं, म्हणून, म्हणजे, नाहींतर. (a) तो आला नाहीं कारण फार पाऊस पडत होता. (b) तूं हें पुस्तक वाचतोस कीं नाहीं. (c) घंटा वाजली कीं गाडी सुटते. (d) काल पाऊस पडला म्हणून तो आला नाहीं. (e) तुम्ही या नाहींतर मी निघून जाईन [other-wise.] (f) तुम्हीं आला म्हणजे मी तुम्हांस पुस्तक देईन I will give you the book when you come. म्हणजे 'then' is used after a verb in the past tense. तो बसला म्हणजे बरे होईल; औषध घेतलें म्हणजे ताप राहील. These sentences may be translated by जेव्हां and तेव्हां with a verb in the future tense. जेव्हां तुम्ही याल तेव्हां मी तुम्हांस पुस्तक देईन.

(5) Declarative— कीं, म्हणून, हें and असें are used as conjunctions and a subordinate noun clause is joined to the principal verb by one of these :— (1) तो म्हणाला कीं तुम्ही लवकर या; (2) तुम्ही लवकर या असें तो म्हणाला; (3) मी लवकर येतो म्हणून त्यानें मला सांगितलें; (4) तो पास झाला हें मला समजलें; I knew that he passed.

(6) Conjunctions showing [a] time, [b] comparison [c] likeness, [d] size and [e] equality.

(a) Time—जेव्हां राजा आला तेव्हां सर्वास आनंद झाला.

(b) Comparison—तो माझ्यापेक्षां उंच आहे—मी उंच आहे त्या-पेक्षां तो उंच आहे

(e) Equality—तो जसा धीट आहे तसा मी नाही (त्याच्या इतका मी धीट नाही.)

(7) Conditional—(1) जर आज पाऊस पडला तर बरे होईल; (2) जर त्याला काम पाहिजे असेल तर तो येईल; (3) जर तो मुलगा गेला असता तर बरे झाले असते; (4) जर तू येथे आहेस तर एवढे माझे काम कर; (5) जर तू ते पुस्तक वाचले असशील तर ते मला परत दे.

In Marathi the 'beginning' conjunctions जर, जरी, जेव्हां, जेथे, जसें are always understood :—

गेल्या वर्षी बराच पाऊस पडला तरी त्याचा उपयोग झाला नाही; मी त्यांच्या घरी गेलों तरी ते मला भेटले नाहीत [मी त्यांच्या घरी गेलों असतां ते मला भेटले नाहीत]; तो शाळेत गेला तेव्हां दहा वाजले होते, करावे तसे भरवे.

CHAPTER VI.

Verbs (क्रियापद विचार).

Verbs affirm or deny something concerning the subject. A verb is the keystone of the arch of a statement. Some verbs express an action which is confined to the doer—others require an object to complete the sense. The consideration of this chapter on verbs will comprise the following points.

- (1) Tenses (काल); (2) Verbal compounds (संयुक्त क्रियापदे); (3) Participles (धातुसाधिते); (4) Moods (अर्थ); (5) Constructions (प्रयोग).

Before studying these five points we have to note the various kinds of verbs.

- (1) Intransitive (अकर्मक)—चालणें, पडणें, etc.—रामा झरझर चालतो, कुत्रा पडतो, etc.

- (2) Transitive (सकर्मक)—वाचणें, घेणें, घालणें—मुलगा पुस्तक वाचतो, मुलग्यानें औषध घेतलें the boy took the medicine, तिनें डोक्याला टोपी घालावी she should put the hat on to her head.

- (3) Copulative (संयोजक)—असणें, होणें—ईश्वर जगाचा धनी आहे, राम राजा झाला.

- (4) Impersonal (अकर्तृक)—उजाडणें, फावणें, सांजावणें—हल्लीं सहा वाजतां उजाडतें, कामामुळे मला फावत नाही, इंग्लंडांत कधीं कधीं चार वाजतां सांजावतें; हल्लीं पुण्यांत फार उकडतें.

(5) Anomalous (विधिभंजक) — पिणें, शिकणें; चावणें. तो पाणी प्याला; ती बाई मराठी शिकली; तें कुत्रें मला चावलें.

(6) Defective (गौण) — पाहिजे, नको, नलगे. मला काम केलें पाहिजे; त्याला करणें नको; दमयंतीला औषध नलगे.

(7) Auxiliary (साहाय्यक) — असणें, तो बसला आहे. जाणें, पुस्तक वाचलें गेलें, होणें; तो पुराण सांगता झाला, प्रतिपादिक, etc.

(8) Denominatives (प्रातिपादिक) हात = हाताळणें — कुठ्याला हाताळूं नकोस, (Touch) लांब = लांबणें — त्याची गोष्ट फार लांबली, (became long) दूर = दूरावणें — त्याचें घर आमच्यापासून फार दुरावलें आहे, (to be away).

(9) Causal (प्रयोजक) — चालविणें, मुलगा मला चालवितो, करविणें, त्यानें माझ्याकडून काम करविलें; पाजणें, चाकर घोड्याला पाणी पाजतो.

(10) Potential (शक्यार्थ) — चालवणें, मुलगा मला चालवत नाही; करवणें, त्याच्यानें काम करवतें; पिववणें, चाकराला औषध पिववत नाही.

Division of Verbs

Verbs are divided according as they add इ or not before tense-endings. Those, that reject इ, belong to the first conjugation and those, that take इ, belong to the second conjugation but this distinction has begun to disappear and is only compulsory in the case of the present participles of transitive verbs, e.g., [1] तो चालतो (no इ). [2] तो पुस्तक वाचतो or वाचितो. [3] तो पुस्तक वाचीत आहे.

Verbs of the first Conjugation are :—

(a) Intransitive Verbs—चालतो, बसते; (b) Anomalous Verbs—चावला, बोलतो. (c) Potential Verbs—जाव-
वतें, देववतें; (d) Mono-Syllabic Verbs—जातो, येतो, खातो,
नेतो; (e) Verbs ending in ह in the present tense
[except लिहिणें]—वाहातो, पाहातो. Verbs of the Second Conjugation admit इ optionally. They are:—
(a) Transitive verbs—आणितो, मोडिलें, वाचतो; (b) Causative verbs—वाचवितो, बसविलें, पाडिलें, लावीन, खोंवलें.

N. B.—Of these the compound forms are mostly used—तो पुस्तक वाचीत असे.

The negatives of the simple habitual are given above but there is another way of forming this tense, i.e., by adding ना to them. Then these forms show unwillingness on the part of the Agent.

(1) तो तेथून जाईना he would not leave that place. (2) मी तिला पुष्कळ सांगितलें तरी ती तें पुस्तक वाचीना.

A General Note on the formation and meanings of tenses

The Present Tense :—

In this tense the formation is very clear. इ is optionally added in the case of transitive verbs. The verb असणें 'to be' and होणें 'to become' have created great confusion. According to some, असणें is conjugated in three ways. The first view is this.

I. (1) तो असतो = ते असतात	} He is — they are.
(2) तो आहे = ते आहेत
(3) तो होय = ते होत

But this is not very logical and hence some grammarians take तो होय and ते होत, etc. as the other forms of होणें 'to become', viz.,

II. (1) तो होतो = ते होतात } He becomes = they
 (2) तो होय = ते होत } become.

III. But there is a third view according to which आहे by itself is a different verb which has nothing to do with असणे. The verb असणे is regular and is conjugated like बसणे as shown overleaf and होय and होत are the second forms of होणे 'to become'. These forms are used in definitions. शाळा ही शिकण्याची जागा होय; जगांतील सर्व माणसें ईश्वराचीं लेकरे होत, etc.

The Present Tense is used to signify :—

- (1) a universal truth—ईश्वर सर्वत्र आहे.
- (2) the historic present—श्रीशंकराचार्य म्हणतात “हैं सर्व विश्व ब्रह्ममय आहे.”
- (3) a future action—तो उद्यां सुंबईस जातो.

The forms of the present tense given above are modern. The old forms of the present tense were like the forms of the Past Habitual, simple conjugation e.g. करी, बसे, उठे, etc. but these are not used at present. The use is restricted to one or two colloquial forms e.g. तो काय उद्योग करितो, देव जाणे God knows what he does, तो कसें पोटा भरतो न कळे None knows how he maintains himself, खटपट करी तो पोटा भरी He that works, gets his food, बोले तैसा चाले त्याची वंदावी पावले Bow to him who practises what he preaches, प्रजा बोले राजा चाले The King does what the subjects say, देव तारी त्याला कोण मारी Who ruins him whom God protects?

These forms have become obsolete. Now we can say देव तारतो त्यास कोण मारतो or देव तारणार त्याला कोण मारणार? etc.

(1) The forms of the Past Tense are made up by appending ला-ली-लें, etc. to the stem of the verb e.g., निजला-ली-लें; वाचिला-ली-लें, etc.

The intransitive verbs agree with their subjects in this tense, e.g., तो बसला; त्या बसल्या; आम्ही बसलों; ते लोक बसले, but this is not the case with the transitive verbs. They agree with their objects and the subject takes the instrumental case. The boy took the book = मुलानें पुस्तक घेतलें; My mother told me a story = माझ्या आईनें मला गोष्ट सांगितली; The man brought the horse = त्या मनुष्यानें घोडा आणिला.

To this rule there are some exceptions. They are the anomalous verbs which are transitive in meaning but intransitive in conjugation. So they do not take the instrumental subject in the Past Tense. तो मराठी शिकला; ती बाई पाणी प्याली; माझी बहीण कविता म्हणाली; तो कुत्रा आपलें घर विसरला; तें मांजर मुलाला चावलें; त्या मुली रस्ता चुकल्या; मी वाघाला भ्यालों.

But these verbs are regularly transitive in other cases e.g., in the subjunctive mood. (1) त्या बाईनें पाणी प्यावें, (2) लोकांनीं मराठी शिकावें etc. here they take the instrumental subject.

The Conjugation of the Past Tense is very irregular, and verbs undergo various changes before the endings ला-ली-लें. They are:—(1) Some verbs change अ into आ e.g., निघ=निघाला; पळ=पळाला; म्हण=म्हणाला etc. (2) Some verbs take आ optionally उड=उडला or उडाला; बूड=बुडला or बुडाला, मिळ=मिळले or मिळालें; बुज=बुजला or बुजाला; लप=लपला or लपाला etc. (3) Some lose their stem altogether जा (go)=गेला; ये (come)=आला; हो (become)=झाला; (4) Some roots add त to the stem घे-घेतला, धू-धुतला, घाल-घातला; (5) Some add इत, सांग-सांगितलें; माग-मागितलें; बघ-बघितलें; (6) Roots ending in ई change it to या, भी-भ्याला (feared); पी=प्याला (drank); वी-व्याला (brought forth); (7) Roots ending in आ take इ optionally गा-गाला or गाइला; मा=माला or माइला contained. (8) Stems ending in ण substitute ट optionally म्हण=म्हणाला or म्हटलें (said). खण=खणलें or खटलें (dug). हाण=हाणलें or हाटलें (beat). (9) Stems ending in ए are very irregular. दे=दिला (gave); ने=नेला (carried); ले=ल्याला (wore.) (10) Miscellaneous—करणे=केला (did), मरणे=मेला (died); खाने=खाला (ate), etc.

A Past Indefinite expresses:—(1) An action of the past time, रामानें रावणास मारिलें. (2) Certainty, तूं आधीं जा, मी हा आलोंच. (3) A present progressive action, तिकडे पहा, आपले चिरंजीव घोड्यावर बसून आले (येतात). (4) Condition, तो आला म्हणजे तुम्ही जा. (5) Supposition, जर तो सुंबईला गेला तर तुमचें पुस्तक आणील.

The Future Indefinite.

The forms of this tense are already shown. The point to be noted is their difference in the conjugation of transitive and intransitive verbs. The difference is seen only in the 1st and 3rd person singular, whereas other forms are the same. In the case of intransitive verbs the future endings are एन and एल, e.g., मी बसेन and तो बसेल, while in the case of a transitive verb they are ईन and ईल. मी करीन and तो करील.

To this general rule the following are the exceptions:—

(1) Transitive verbs like सांगणें, मागणें, ऐकणें, बघणें, take the intransitive endings, e.g., मी सांगेन-मागेन-ऐकेन-बघेन, etc. तो सांगेल-मागेल-ऐकेल-बघेल.

(2) Transitive verbs otherwise called 'anomalous' verbs take the intransitive endings, एन, and एल, मी मराठी शिकेन, तो गोष्ट विसरेल, कुत्रा मला चावेल, बांस त्याला डसेल.

(3) Potential verbs formed from transitive verbs take एल, as they are generally used in the third person, e.g., त्याला काम करवेल, बाईला पाणी आणवेल, त्या मुलगाच्याने पुस्तक वाचवेल, etc.

(4) The verbs with dative agent also take these endings, e.g., त्याला दूध आवडेल, मला पत्र मिळेल, त्याला आनंद वाटेल, मुलांना गंमत दिसेल, मला उद्यां ही गोष्ट आठवेल.

B. The transitive endings, ईन, and ईल, are added to:—(1) All mono-syllabic verbs of either kind, मी जाईन-तो जाईल, येईन-येईल, होईन-होईल, खाईन-खाईल, etc., (2) The intransitive verbs, राहाणें to stay, वाहणें to blow, पोहणें to swim, मी तेथें राहीन; तो माझ्या घरी राहील; उद्यां वारा जोरानें वाहील असें वाटतें, तो तळ्यांत पोहील, मी नदींत पोहीन I shall swim in the river.

Meaning of the Future Tense

It expresses (1) A future act—तो उद्यां येईल. (2) Supposition—जर तूं अभ्यास करशील तर पास होशील. (3) Potentiality—त्याचें बोट तुटलें आहे, मग तो लिहील कसा? (How can he write when his finger is cut? (4) Indifference—जाल तर जा go if you wish. (5) Present action—एवढें पत्र वाचाल काय ?

Imperfect Tenses

These tenses show the continuance of the action in present, past or future time. This is clear from the statement itself. The present perfect has to be remembered because it is used in three different ways:—(1) तो घरी जात आहे, this shows the continuance of the action. (2) तो घरी जातो आहे, this is an emphatic form. (3) ते घरी जाताहेत, here the participle and the auxiliary verb are joined together to express the continuance of the action.

Verbs बसणे to sit; निजणे to sleep; उभा राहणे to stand, deserve notice in their use, e.g., तो बसत आहे he is in the act of sitting. तो बसला आहे he is sitting (action complete).

The Future Imperfect shows uncertainty concerning the happening of the action, hence it is a dubitative form, तो उद्यां या वेळीं लिहीत असेल by this time tomorrow he may be writing.

Perfect Tenses

In these tenses the formation is regular. The Past Participle agrees with the subject if intransitive, and with the object if transitive. तो बसला आहे; त्याने पुस्तक उघडले आहे, etc.

Present Perfect

(1) This tense shows the completion of an act in the past, the effect of which remains to the present time, e.g., मी इतिहास शिकलो आहे I have studied history.

(2) In Marathi, the present tense is invariably used for the present perfect, e.g., तो मला तीन वर्षांपासून जाणतो he has known me for three years. ती बाई पुण्यांत दहा वर्षांपासून राहाते the woman has lived in Poona for ten years. त्याची माझी फार दिवसांची ओळख आहे I have been long acquainted with him.

(3) The present perfect shows an act just finished, तुमचे पत्र आतांच मिळाले आहे.

The Plu-perfect Tense.

It is formed by adding होतों-तें-तें etc., to the past participles, e.g., गेलों होतों-गेला होतास-गेली होतीस, etc. The forms are given under 'Conjugation' above.

(1) This tense is used in Marathi for the simple past tense, e.g., मी काल फिरावयास गेलों होतों, Yesterday I went out for a walk. This plu-perfect form is used in simple tenses when we refer to an act which is just or recently completed.

I read this book last month मीं हें पुस्तक गेल्या महिन्यांत वाचिलें होतें. In English this is only used in complex sentences but in Marathi it is used even in simple sentences.

(2) Sometimes it denotes an action which took place in time past, the results of which are not seen in the present time:— लहानपणीं मी ही कविता शिकलों होतों, त्यानें काल सायकल पुसली होती, तुम्हीं परवां औषध घेतलें होतें काय?

(3) The Plu-perfect expresses an action which had happened before another action of the past time took place. मी त्याच्या घरीं गेलों, तों तो बाहेर गेला होता. मी जेवावयास बसलों तेव्हां माझ्या बहिणीचें जेवण झालें होतें.

(4) It expresses a modest statement, मी आपणांपाशीं पुस्तक मागावयास आलों होतों. तो तिच्याजवळ औषध मागण्यास गेला होता.

(5) In some sentences the form is plu-perfect but the participle is used adjectivally to give passive sense. गाय बांधलेली होती; तो रागावला होता he was angry; कुत्रें मोकळें सोडलेलें होतें; आजच्या नाटकाला पुष्कळ लोक आले होते today's play was largely attended.

The future perfect like तो गेला असेल, पाऊस पडला असेल, पोस्टमन येऊन गेला असेल, expresses doubt on the part of the speaker and as such they are dubitative sentences.

Prospective Tenses

(1) तो मुलगा पत्र लिहिणार आहे the boy is going to write a letter. तो मुलगा पत्र लिहिणार होता and तो मुलगा पत्र लिहिणार असेल, are sentences which express the intention of the agent or his plan. There is a slight difference between the future and the prospective tenses. तो गांवास जाईल shows doubt, while तो गांवाला जाणार आहे expresses a definite plan.

(2) If the auxiliary verb is not used with the future participle, then the sentences are more emphatic and express a greater certainty, e.g., मी पत्र लिहिणार I am sure to write a letter; तो उद्यां येणार; ती बाई मराठी शिकणार; तो मनुष्य तें काम करणार, etc.

(3) These prospective tenses are otherwise expressed by the use of genitive supines. (1) तो काल जायचा होता he was to go yesterday. (2) ती आज यावयाची आहे; त्याचा मित्र उद्यां परिक्षेस बसायचा असेल his friend will be going to appear for the examination tomorrow.

It is to be noted that in this construction, the subject has to be used in the nominative case.

The Habitual Tenses

The Present Habitual expresses a habit, e.g., तो नेहमीं गात असतो or तो नेहमीं गातो, मी रोज पोहत असतें.

(a) In the formation of the past habitual the transitive verbs सांगणें; मागणें, ऐकणें, and बघणें, take intransitive terminations in the simple form तो लहानपणीं भीक मागे, He used to beg alms, तो नेहमीं मला गोष्टी सांगे आणि मी त्या ऐकें; तो दररोज दरींत वाघ बघे.

(b) The anomalous verbs like शिकणें, म्हणणें, बोलणें, ढसणें, चावणें. etc., also take intransitive terminations e.g., तो शिके-म्हणे-बोले-ढसे-चावे, etc.

(c) Verbs with dative agent like, आवडणें, आठवणें, समजणें, दिसणें, मिळणें, and वाटणें, take the same forms like, त्याला गोष्ट आवडे, मला निरोप आठवे. समजे, दिसे, मिळे, वाटे, etc.

(d) The transitive potential verbs come under this class, त्याच्यानें नेहमीं काम करवें; मला दररोज तें पुस्तक न जाणवें, etc.

(e) The Intransitive verbs ending in ह take transitive terminations with the simple forms:— राही, वाही, पोही etc.

(f) The sense of the past habitual is variously expressed. There appear to be five forms which are generally used, e.g., 'The boy used to do his lesson well.' This sentence can be expressed in one of the following ways:— (1) तो मुलगा आपले घडे चांगलें करी, (2) तो मुलगा आपले घडे चांगलें करीत असे, (3) त्या मुलानें आपले घडे नेहमीं चांगलें करावे, (4) तो मुलगा आपले घडे नेहमीं चांगलें करायचा, (5) त्या मुलानें आपले घडे रोज चांगलें करायचे.

The verbs in the first and second sentences are the simple and compound formation of the same conjugation. In the 3rd the subjunctive mood is used to express the same meaning. While in the 4th the genitive supine is used agreeing with the nominative subject. Illustrations of this form are many especially in the late Ramabai Ranade's 'आमच्या आयुष्यांतली आठवणी'.

(2) The Past Habitual expresses—

(a) That a certain action usually happened in the past time तो लहानपणीं खेळत असे in childhood he used to play.

(b) That the agent was unwilling is expressed by putting the participle ना to the simple form of the past habitual. तो मला पुस्तक देईना he would not give me the book. तो मुलगा काम करीना; पैसे मिळवीना, व लोकांचें कर्ज फेडीना the boy would neither work nor get money nor pay off his debts. But ना joined to the potential form has the ordinary meaning, तो काम करूं शकेना He could not work, त्याला जातां येईना He could not go.

(c) The simple form of the past habitual, is used with पर्यंत to show period of time. ती बाई मराठी शिके-पर्यंत पुण्यांत राहिली.

II

Compound Verbs

The verb is the chief word in the sentence and it expresses what the agent does. Without it the sense is not complete. This verb consists of one or more words. (1) तो मुलगा विद्या संपादतो. (2) तो मुलगा विद्या संपादन करितो. (3) तो मुलगा गरिबांवर दया करतो. (4) देवानें सृष्टि निर्माण केली (निर्मिली). (5) रामानें रावणास ठार मारलें. (6) विद्यार्थ्यांना सदैव अध्ययन केलें पाहिजे. (7) गरीब लोक काम करूं इच्छितात.

These verbs single or compound express the action of the agent. It is easy when that verb is single but the question becomes important when the verb is a group of words. This is an important point in Marathi Grammar, so it deserves notice and careful study.

The compound verbs may be divided into four groups :— (1) Nominal, (2) Adjectival, (3) Adverbial, (4) Verbal.

The Nominals.

In Marathi, a verb is compounded with a noun, inflected or uninflected, to express one idea, e.g., to love, वर प्रीति करणें; to cross, पार पाडणें; or पार जाणें; if the verb is an intransitive verb like पडणें or जाणें the additional words like पार will be adverbs but if the verb is a transitive verb then the parsing of these words becomes important. The words in the compound may be inflected in the Dative, the Instrumental, or the Locative. Such words coming with the transitive verb are called internal objects, and the words that are the direct objects of the verb are called external objects. When the internal object is inflected, the external remains uninflected, e.g., Internal Object inflected.

- (a) The Dative:— तो कुणबी आपलें काम शेवटास नेतो.
- (b) The Instrumental:— रामा धनुष्य पोटाशीं धरतो.
- (c) The Locative:— तो मनुष्य कपडे आंगांत घालतो.
- (d) The verbs of the first group are (1) सिद्धीस नेणें to fulfil, (2) जेरीस आणणें, (3) डोकीस घालणें, (4) उघडकीस आणणें, (5) पाठीस लागणें.
- (e) To the second group belong रागें भरणें, उराशीं घेणें, पोटाशीं धरणें, कानाशीं लागणें, जिवें मारणें.

(f) The third group consists of verbs like आंगांत घालणें, डोक्यांत घालणें, लक्षांत ठेवणें, ध्यानांत धरणें, मनांत आणण, पायां पडणें, कार्मीं येणें, मार्थीं मारणें, पायांत घालणें. He put on the shoes. त्यानें जोडा पायांत घातला. In this sentence पायांत means पायावर but this is not idiomatic. We have seen that the internal objects take the Dative, the Instrumental and the Locative.

Internal Object Uninflected

Verbs like दान देणें 'to present', मार देणें 'to beat', स्तुति करणें 'to praise', and दया करणें 'to love', are instances of this kind. The words going with the verb are uninflected and hence the object of the English sentence has to be used either in the Accusative, Dative, Genitive or Locative case. No rules can be laid down to fix the groups of such verbs. Practice alone will acquaint the students with the use of the proper case.

The External Object is used in :—

(1) The accusative case—त्यानें मला पुस्तक बक्षीस दिळें. हरीनें आपलें घर गहाण टाकलें, (pawned) तिनें कथा श्रवण केली, (heard).

Verbs like बक्षीस देणें, श्रवण करणें 'to hear', संपादन करणें 'to acquire', etc. come into this class.

(2) The Dative Case—(a) मीं त्या मनुष्याला मार दिला. (b) त्यानें देवास नमस्कार केला. (c) आईनें मुलास भय घातलें. (d) शिक्षकानें विद्यार्थ्यांस प्रश्न केला.

(3) The Genitive Case — (a) रामानें रावणाचा वध केला. (b) मास्तीनें रामाची स्तुति केली. (c) साहेबांनीं पंडिताची शिफारस केली. (d) कोलंबसानें अमेरिकेचा शोध लाविला, discovered (e) मी त्याचा विश्वास कसा धरूं ?

(4) The Locative Case—(a) विद्यार्थ्यानें अभ्यासांत लक्ष ठेवावें [mind]. (b) तो आपल्या कामांत दक्षता ठेवतो [attends to]. (c) आम्ही देवावर विश्वास ठेवतो. (d) गरिबांवर दया करावी.

A General Note

Sometimes internal and external objects are not inflected and there is a difference of opinion as to the parsing of the word coupled with the verb. There are three views :—

(1) तो फुलें गोळा करतो he gathers flowers.

In this, फुलें is the external object while गोळा is internal. Both are uninflected.

The first view is to take गोळा करणें, as a compound verb and then there is no necessity to parse the word गोळा.

The second view is to regard 'गोळा' as a predicative adjective qualifying the noun 'फुलें'.

The third view is to regard the noun गोळा used as an adverb modifying the verb करणें.

There is another sentence तो मुळगा परीक्षा पास झाला. 'the boy passed his examination.' This is a strange compound. In parsing, some regard पास झाळा as a transitive compound verb, others regard 'परीक्षा पास' as an adjectival phrase.

The solution of this question will be made easy if single verbs are introduced in their place or the case-ending that is understood is clearly expressed, e.g., तो मुलगा विद्या संपादन करतो will be better if it reads तो मुलगा विद्या संपादतो or तो मुलगा विद्येचें संपादन करतो. Like this the question of uninflected internal and external objects will be clearly solved.

II

Adjectival Compounds

Under this head fall the compound tenses and other verbs compounded with adjectives, e.g., ती बाई बसत-बसली आहे-बसणार आहे, etc.

The Sanskrit past-participles उत्सन्न, निर्माण, and संतुष्ट form these compounds, e.g., (1) देवानें विश्व उत्सन्न केलें. (2) त्यानें पुष्कळ वस्तु निर्माण केल्या आहेत. (3) स्त्रियांनीं नेहमीं आपल्या पतीस संतुष्ट करावें. Also, उभा करणें to raise; जागा करणें to awaken; उसना देणें to lend, are of this type.

Other adjectives like चालू, सुरू, लागू, बंद, मना are variously used in these compounds. (1) त्यानें गिरणी चालू केली. (2) तो लवकरच आपली शाळा सुरू करील. (3) त्या रोगाला हें औषध चांगलें लागू पडेल. (4) रस्ता बंद करा व येणाऱ्या जाणाऱ्यास आंत येणें मना करा.

III

Adverbial Compounds

Under this head come those verbs where the noun is supposed to be used as an adverb, e.g.,
 (1) तिने आपला बकरा बळी दिला [sacrificed]. (2) त्याने ब्राह्मणास गाय दान दिली [presented]. (3) रामाने रावणास ठार मारले [killed]. (4) इंग्लंडने जर्मनीला जेर केले [crushed]. (5) त्याने आपले काम पार पाडले [completed].

IV

Verbal Compounds.

(Dippicop.)

Every letter of this 'Code Word' suggests a different verbal compound.

- (1) D. Desiderative:— तो पुस्तक वाचू पाहातो or इच्छितो.
- (2) I. Inceptive:— तो काम करू लागतो.
- (3) P. Potential:— मी मराठी बोलू शकतो.
- (4) P. Permissive:— ती बाई मला खेळू देते.
- (5) I. Intensive:— ती सुलगी पुस्तक फेकून देते.
- (6) C. Continuative:— तो नेहमी पोथी वाचीत बसतो.
- or
- Causative:— ती माझ्याकडून पत्र लिहून घेते.
- (7) O. Obligational:— त्याला काम केलें पाहिजे.
or त्याला काम करावें लागले.
- (8) P. Passive:— माझ्याकडून पैसे घेतले जातात or माझ्याकडून पैसे घेण्यांत येतात

These are the most generally used verbal compounds, but there are others which express respectively the same meanings. They are explained below.

Formation and Use.

(1) Desideratives (इच्छादर्शक.)

The Desiderative is formed by adding इच्छिणे or पाहणे to the infinitive of the principal verb. It denotes wish or inclination. The infinitive form ending in ऊं may be substituted by the dative supine ending in आयास or आयला, e.g.,

(1) तो मनुष्य आपल्याशीं बोलूं इच्छितो or तो आपल्याशीं बोलायास इच्छितो or त्याची आपल्याशीं बोलण्याची इच्छा आहे (the man wants to speak to you.)

Out of these three constructions the last is more used by standard Marathi writers.

(2) कोलहा वाघ बनूं पाहातो or बनावयास पाहातो (the fox tries to become a tiger) Here there is the inclination of one's mind and this compound may be called a Tentative compound.

(3) Genitive supines combined with dative agent sometimes denote desire; मला मराठी शिकायचें आहे I want to learn Marathi. So also कोलह्याला वाघ बनायचें आहे; कावळ्याला मध्याशीं पाणी प्यायचें होतें; त्याला गेल्या वर्षी घरी जायचें होतें, etc.

(4) The Dative supine used with पाहिजे also expresses this meaning मला आतां औषध घ्यायला पाहिजे, now I want to take medicine. तिला आतां मराठी बोलायला पाहिजे; तुम्हांला उद्यां मजकडे जेवणास यायला पाहिजे, etc.

(2) Inceptives (उपक्रमदर्शक.)

They denote the beginning of an action and are formed by using the infinitive or the dative supine of the principal verb with लागणें, or combining the present participle in तां with होणें. e.g.,

(1) तो मुलगा मराठी बोलूं लागला; तो मुलगा मराठी बोलावयास लागला; काल रात्री मला ताप येऊं लागला; त्याला इंग्लिश येऊं लागले.

In these sentences, the forms बोलूं or बोलावयास are freely used to mean "the boy began to learn Marathi." There is a peculiar shade of meaning in connection with this verb लागणें e.g.,

(a) तो चाकर काम करूं लागला, means 'The servant began to work.' While तो चाकर मला काम करूं लागला means 'the servant helped me in doing the work. This meaning is possible when a personal object is used with लागणें.

(2) ती बाई चालती झाली; तो मुलगा मराठी बोलता झाला, are instances of the second kind but are very rarely used.

(3) Permissives (अनुज्ञादर्शक.)

These denote permission and are formed by combining the infinitive with the auxiliary verb देणे, e.g., तो मला लिहू देतो, पण वाचू देत नाही. वैद्य रोग्याला बोलू देत नाही, व हालू देत नाही.

IV. Potentials (शक्यतादर्शक.)

They are formed in various ways. The most common auxiliaries are शकणे and येणे. Take for instance a sentence like "He can read Marathi." This can be translated in the following five ways :—

- (a) तो मराठी वाचू शकतो (कर्तरि).
- (b) त्याला मराठी वाचतां येतें (कर्मणि).
- (c) त्याला मराठी वाचावयास येतें (कर्मणि).
- (d) त्याला or त्याच्यानें मराठी वाचणें होतें (कर्तरि).
- (e) त्याला or त्याच्यानें मराठी वाचवतें (कर्मणि).

(a) The first sentence is formed by joining the infinitive to शकणे with the subject in the nominative case. The second is formed by adding the infinitive येणे to the present participle in तां or to Dative Supine. The fourth is formed by using the gerund with होणे and the fifth is a potential verb formed by adding व to the stem of the verb of which more will be given under General Note. In all the sentences except (a), the agent is in the Dative case.

Idiomatic Potential Forms

(1) The verbs ऐकणें, रडणें, and हंसणें are idiomatically used with the auxiliary verb येणें.

- 1 { त्याला ऐकतां येतें he can hear.
 { त्याला ऐकूं येतें It is audible to him.
- 2 { त्या मुलीला रडतां येतें the girl can cry.
 { त्या मुलीला रडूं येतें she is inclined to cry.
- 3 { मला हंसतां येतें I can laugh.
 { मला हंसूं येतें the thing creates laughter in me.

From the above pairs, the alternative sentences do not convey the sense of potentiality but they merely denote the feeling of the agent.

(2) There are some verbs which are used with the dative agent and express potentiality:—

- (1) मला पेटी उचलत नाही I cannot lift up the box.
- (2) त्याला तें दार बसत नाही He cannot fix the door.
- (3) मला आतां काम होत नाही I cannot work now.
- (4) तिला अन्न जात नाही She cannot eat food.

(3) Verbs मिळणें and सांपडणें are used to denote potentiality. They are used with dative supine of the principal verb, e.g., त्या मुलगांला वाघ पहायला सांपडला नाही The boy could not see the tiger. पुंड्याला जत्रा पहायला मिळाली नाही Pundya could not enjoy the fair. Also मला उद्यां यायला होणार नाही I can't come tomorrow.

(5) Intensives (प्रकर्षदर्शक.)

1. The following auxiliaries, घेणें, टाकणें, ठेवणें, देणें, जाणें, येणें, etc., are used with the pluperfect participle of the principal verb to intensify its sense e.g.,
 (1) मी आपलें काम करून घेतों, व मग त्याला पाठवून देतों,
 (2) उष्णतेनें नदीतील पाणी आटून गेलें, (3) तो काल सकाळीं निघून गेला. त्यानें सर्वांना त्रासून सोडलें, (4) धन्यानें चाकराला हाकून लावलें, कारण त्यानें घोड्याचें सामान फेकून दिलें.

2. The auxiliaries टाकणें and ठेवणें deserve notice. त्या मुलगांनें आपलें पुस्तक वाचून टाकलें and त्या मुलगांनें आपलें पुस्तक वाचून ठेवलें are not the same in meaning. Literally both mean 'The boy finished reading his book' but वाचून टाकणें implies haste and want of care while वाचून ठेवणें suggests carefulness and the idea of using the effects in future. So also तूं आपलें काम करून टाक, त्यानें आपलें काम करून ठेविलें, तिनें पैसे देऊन टाकले. तिनें तें पत्र एकदाचें वाचून टाकलें. मी उद्यांसाठीं ही गोष्ट वाचून ठेवतों.

3. Some of the auxiliaries like चुकणें, बसणें, and होणें, in addition to intensity, show that the action is completed and can be joined to any verb in this sense e.g., तो पुस्तक घेऊन चुकला, he has already bought the book, ती काम करून चुकली, मी पैसे देऊन चुकलों. बसणें:—तो नऊ वाजतां जेवून बसला He finished his dinner at nine, त्यानें काम करून घेतलें, तो तेथें येऊन बसला तरी तुमचा पत्ता नाही. होणें:—माझे पुस्तक वाचून झालें, I finished reading the book त्याचें जेवून झालें, तुमचें खेळून झालें काय ?

(6) (a) Continuatives (सातत्यदर्शक.)

The auxiliaries बसणें, जाणें, येणें and राहणें, are used with the present participles of the principle verb to show the continuity of the action e.g., तो पुस्तक वाचीत बसला, तुम्ही नेहमीं व्यायाम करीत जा, तो रस्त्यानें आपलें पुस्तक वाचीत येतो, तीं मुलें नेहमीं वाचीत राहतात, तो सर्व दिवस निजून राहतो, He sleeps all day long. राहणें is sometimes used with the plu-perfect participle. तूं माझ्या दारांत बसून राहूं नको, लोक लढतांना निजून राहतात.

(b) Causatives. (प्रयोजक)

The Causative verbal compound is formed by घेणें joined to the plu-perfect participle and घालणें to the infinitive to denote that the agent is caused to do something by somebody else, e.g., तो माझ्याकडून पत्र वाचून घेतो He causes me to read the letter, तिनें त्याच्याकडून पुस्तक लिहून घेतलें etc. आई मुलीला आधीं न्हाऊं घालते व मग खाऊं घालते, मोठ्या मुलाला जेऊं घालणें सोपें आहे.

The sense of causatives is expressed by separate verbs which will be dealt under the General Note.

(7) Obligationals (कर्तव्य सूचक)

The auxiliary verbs पाहिजे, लागणें, भाग पडणें, असणें, are used with forms of verbs to indicate obligation or moral necessity on the part of the agent, e.g.,

(1) पाहिजे is used with past participles :—तो गेला पाहिजे. Here the nominative subject expresses doubt. त्याला गेलें पाहिजे, the dative agent expresses obligation while त्यानें गेलें पाहिजे with instrumental agent expresses moral necessity. The transitive verb agrees with the object or is neuter singular त्याला काम केलें पाहिजे He must work. त्याला गाडी आणिली पाहिजे. मला त्याला बोलाविलें पाहिजे.

(2) लागणें (to have to) is used with subjunctive forms to show obligation in the past and future tenses but it shows habit in the present tense, e.g., मला तेथें अतिशय काम करावें लागलें There I had to work hard. तुम्हांला पुण्यांत पुष्कळ फिरावें लागेल. त्याला रोज सकाळीं दूध प्यावें लागतें.

Also दिवाळींत बहिणीनें भावास ओवाळावें लागतें व त्यानें तिला ओवाळणी घालावी लागते.

(3) भाग पडणें or भाग असणें are used with verbal nouns or gerunds to indicate obligation तिला पुण्यांत राहणें भाग पडलें she was compelled to stay in Poona, मला दहा वाजतां शाळेंत जाणें भाग आहे, त्याला व्यायाम करणें भाग पडतें.

(4) असणें is used with genitive supine in this sense e.g., त्याला नेहमीं काम करायचें असतें He has always to work, तुला तेथें जायचें काय? नाहीं, मला येथेंच बसायचें.

(5) लावणें joined to the Dative supine has the sense of outside or external compulsion e.g., शिक्षकानें मुलाला वाचायास लावलें, मीं त्याला काम करायस लावलें, माझी आई मला शाळेंत जावयास लावते.

(8) Passive (कर्मकर्तरि.)

The passive verbal compounds are only possible with transitive verbs. They denote that the subject is acted upon by some other agent. It is formed by joining the verb जाणे to the past participle in ल् and येणे to the locative singular of the verbal noun, e.g., (Active) (Passive)

तो काम करतो— (1) त्याच्याकडून काम केले जाते.
He works (2) त्याच्याकडून काम करण्यांत येते.

मी पुस्तक वाचले— (1) माझ्याकडून पुस्तक वाचले गेले.

राजा प्रजेचे रक्षण करील—
The king will protect the subjects (1) राजाकडून प्रजेचे रक्षण केले जाईल.
(2) राजाकडून प्रजेचे रक्षण करण्यांत येईल.

These are the regular passive forms but they are not used in ordinary composition. They are only used in business documents or in Government records.

A General Note.

Potential Verbs.

Potential verbal compounds are already discussed above but here the potential verb is to be treated. The potential verb is formed by adding व to the stem of transitive or intransitive verbs as करणे—करवणे; चालणे—चालवणे; but in the case of a mono-syllabic verb, वव is added, जाणे—जाववणे; देणे—देववणे.

Its characteristics are :—

(a) The verb is conjugated intransitively and in the third person only करवेल; वाचवेल; etc.

(b) The agent of a potential verb is used either in the dative or in the instrumental of the genitive, e.g., I can bring a book :—मला or माझ्याने पुस्तक आणवते, त्याला or त्याच्याने काम करवले, मुलाला or मुलाच्याने ते पुस्तक वाचवेल, etc.

(c) The intransitive verbs (अकर्मकक्रियापदे) take neuter construction (भावेप्रयोग) in all tenses in this mood त्याला जाववते, मला बसवले, तिच्याने बसवणार नाही. While the transitive potential verbs take either the object कर्मणि or the neuter भावे constructions in all tenses.

The object construction is possible when the object is uninflected and if inflected the verb takes the neuter construction, e.g.,

(1) Object Construction :—

माझ्याने पुस्तक वाचवते; तिला काम करवले; आईला पाणी आणवेल;
त्याला काठी घेववणार नाही.

(2) Neuter construction :—

आईला मुलास घेववते, त्याला बहिणीस आणवले, तिच्याने मावास
मारवत नाही, त्याला माझे बरे पाहावत नाही.

Note:—The potential verbs have object or neuter construction even in the present or future tense.

Causative Verbs

(1) The causal verbs are formed from transitive and intransitive verbs by adding वि or ववि to the stem. ईव is sometimes appended in colloquial Marathi, e.g., करणे=करविणे or करीवणे. चालणे=चालविणे or चालीवणे. The first forms are more common.

(2) All causative verbs are transitive verbs and they express that the action indicated by the verb is done by some other agency.

(3) The characteristics are :—

(1) The intransitive verbs when causative have one agent, e.g., दगड हालतो; चाकर दगड हालवितो.

(2) The transitive causative verbs have two agents and the original subject is used with कडून, e.g., हरी काम करतो Hari does the work. रामा हरीकडून काम करवतो or करवितो or करीवतो Rama causes Hari to work.

(4) The subject of the intransitive verb becomes an inflected or uninflected object in the causative, e.g., दगड बसतो = तो दगड बसवितो. मूल निजते = आई मुलाला निजविते.

(5) In the case of transitive verbs the original subject is used with कडून or करवी or सांगून and the verb agrees with the new subject, e.g., राम हरिण धरतो = सीता रामाकडून हरिण धरविते. तिने पुस्तक वाचले = आईने तिच्याकडून पुस्तक वाचविले.

(6) Double Causatives:—

बुडणे = जहाज बुडाले the ship sank. बुडविणे = वाय्याने जहाज बुडविले. बुडविवणे = देवाने वाय्याकडून जहाज बुडविले.

त्याने रामाला सांगून माझ्याकडून ते पुस्तक करविले. तो माळी फुले आणतो = साहेब माळ्याकडून फुले आणवितो. मडमसाहेब साहेबास सांगून माळ्याकडून फुले आणविवतात.

(7) Other ways of forming the causative:—

(a) By dropping वि or ववि and changing the initial अ to आ, e.g., पडणे = पाडणे; तरणे = तारणे; सरणे = सारणे; गळणे = गाळणे; मरणे = मारणे; टळणे = टाळणे.

(b) By changing the initial उ to ओ and ट to ड, टणे = सोडणे; तुटणे = तोडणे; फुटणे = फोडणे; but फिटणे = फेडणे.

(c) Some verbs are made from nouns e.g., :—
 राग = रागणें = रागावणें, बोल = बोलणें = बोलावणें, दुःख = दुःखणें =
 दुखावणें, समज = समजणें = समजावणें, etc.

(d) Some verbs have altogether different forms
 पिणें (drink)—पाजणें; दिसणें (appear) or देखणें—दाखवणें; लागणें
 लावणें; रुतणें = रोवणें; खुपणें = खोवणें; गुंतणें = गोवणें जाणें = पाठविणें.

Note.—After the consideration of causatives and potentials it is well to note the distinctions between these forms.

(1) Potential :— आईला काम करवतें.

(2) Causative:— भाई मुलीकडून काम कराविते or करवते.

1. Potentials take व while causatives take वि or व.

2. The agent of the potential is inflected and that of the causative is regular and will be inflected in the past tense or in the subjunctive mood.

3. The construction in the potentials will never be कर्तरि or subject, while in the causative it will depend upon the tense and mood of the verb.

(1) त्याला चालवतें, (neuter con.) (2) त्याला काम करवेल,
 (object con.) (3) आई मुलाला चालवते, (कर्तरि) (4) आईने
 मुलाला चालवावें, (भावे) (5) आईने मजकडून पुस्तक आणविलें
 (कर्मणि).

IV

Moods (अर्थ).

The mood of a verb is the form in which the verb is used to express the mode of the action. These moods are generally four. (1) Indicative Mood (स्वार्थ), (2) The Imperative Mood (आज्ञार्थ), (3) The Subjunctive Mood (विध्यर्थ), (4) The Conditional Mood (संकेतार्थ).

Of these the Imperative commands, the Subjunctive expresses duty, while the Conditional states that the happening of one thing depends upon the happening of the other.

Indicative Mood (स्वार्थ.)

The Indicative Mood states a fact in affirmative, negative or interrogative form and expresses only the relations of present, past or future time.

(1) Indicative Proper—तो गेला; ती बसली नाही.

(2) The Interrogative form—तो कां आला? ते मुलगे खेळतात काय?

(3) The Potential form—रामाला अलीकडे पायीं चालवतें.

(4) The Infinitive form—तो वाचूं शकतो; ती बोलूं देते; तो जाऊं लागतो.

(5) The Dubitative form—तो चालत-चालला-चालणार असेल-
(नसेल). तो चालत-चालला-चालणार असावा-(नसावा).

These three show the present, past and the future dubitative forms.

Imperative Mood

(आज्ञार्थ)

Conjugation of the verb.

Affirmative forms.

मी खेळूं May I play

तूं खेळ Play

तो-ती-तें खेळो Let him play

आम्ही खेळूं Let us play

तुम्ही खेळा Play

ते-त्या-तीं खेळोत Let them play

Negative forms.

मी खेळूं नये ?

तूं खेळूं नकोस.

तो-ती-तें न खेळो.

आम्ही खेळूं नये-न खेळूं.

तुम्ही खेळूं नका.

ते-त्या-तीं न खेळोत.

Of these the first and the third persons are not really Imperative. They really belong to the Subjunctive mood, but it is the practice to use them in the Imperative Mood.

Uses of Forms

(1) The first person asks permission.

मी त्याला पुस्तक देऊं? May I give him the book? मी
आत येऊं कां? May I come in? मी घरी जाऊं?

(2) The third person expresses desire or curse.

नवीन वर्ष सुखकारक होवो A happy new year! आज तो मला
पुस्तक देवो! May he give me the book today! देव सर्वांचे
बरे करो! May God bless all! हा नाताळ सकलांस सुखकर होवो!
A happy Christmas!

(3) The second person gives command.

मुलांनो! गप बसा. बोलू नका.

The command may be expressed in four different forms, e.g., Send me a letter. (1) मला पत्र पाठीव. (2) मला पत्र पाठवावे. (3) मला पत्र पाठविणे. (4) मला पत्र पाठवायचे. Of these 2, 3, and 4 are polite forms.

(4) This form with आपण(I) idiomatically expresses duty :—आपण कशाला जा तिकडे? आपण कां बोला? Here Verbs जा and बोला mean जावे, बोलावे.

The Subjunctive Mood. (विध्यर्थ.)

Conjugation of Intransitive Verb

(चालणे)

Uninflected Subject.

मी चालावा-वी-वे I may walk

मी न चालावा-etc.

तुं चालावास-वीस-वेस

तुं न चालावास.

{ तो चालावा	तो न चालावा.
{ ती चालावी	ती न चालावी.
{ तें चालावें	तें न चालावें.
आम्ही चालावें-व्या-वीं	आम्ही न चालावें etc.
तुम्ही चालावें-व्या-वीं	तुम्ही न चालावें.
ते चालावे	ते न चालावे.
त्या चालाव्या	त्या न चालाव्या.
तीं चालावीं	तीं न चालावीं.

In the above formation the verb is used in the subjective construction to express doubt or possibility. These forms are very rarely used.

The Most Common Formation.

Inflected Subject.

मीं-आम्ही	{	चालावें	मीं-आम्ही	{	न चालावें.
तूं-तुम्हीं		Should	तूं-तुम्हीं		or
त्यानें-तिनें-त्यानें		walk	त्यानें-तिनें-त्यानें		चालूं नये.
त्यांनीं			त्यांनीं

In this formation the verb is used in the neuter construction and generally expresses duty.

Conjugation of Transitive Verb

(वाचणें)

(α) Objective construction with uninflected object generally expresses duty.

मीं-तूं-त्यानें-तिनें-त्यानें	{ Object {	वाचावा-वी-वें.
आम्ही-तुम्हीं-त्यांनीं		वाचावें-व्या-वीं.

Negative Forms.

मी-तुं-त्यानें-तिनें-त्यानें
आम्हीं-तुम्हीं-त्यानीं } वाचूं नये

(b) Neuter construction with inflected object generally expresses duty.

मी-तुं-त्यानें-तिनें-त्यानें
आम्हीं-तुम्हीं-त्यानीं } भेटावें or बोलवावें.

Negative Forms

मी-तुं-त्यानें-तिनें-त्यानें
आम्हीं-तुम्हीं-त्यानीं } न भेटावें-भेटूं नये.

In this mood the agent as a general rule is inflected in the instrumental case, and then the intransitive verb will be in the neuter singular, while the transitive verbs will agree with the object, and will be in the neuter singular if it is inflected. In very few cases of intransitive verbs the agent is in the nominative when the verb expresses doubt or probability, e.g.,

(1) Intransitive verbs—त्यानें सकाळीं यावें, (Instr)
तो सकाळीं यावा, (Nom.)

The first means 'he should come in the morning' while the second means 'He is likely to come in the morning.'

(2) Transitive verbs—त्यानें पुस्तक घ्यावें, (obj. con.)
त्यानें मला बोलवावें (neu. con.)

(3) Anomalous verbs.—are regular like transitive verbs in this mood, तिने मराठी शिकावे. (कर्मणि) त्या मुलांने मला भेटावे. (भावे).

As regards the Conjugation, note the following forms :—

- (1) दे—द्यावा, द्यावी, द्यावे. etc. (should give). (2) ने—न्यावा, न्यावी, न्यावे. etc. (should carry). (3) घे—घ्यावा, घ्यावी, घ्यावे. etc. (should take). (4) पी—प्यावा, प्यावी, प्यावे. (should drink). (5) भी—भ्यावा, भ्यावी, भ्यावे. (should fear). (6) हो—व्हावा, व्हावी, व्हावे. (should become). (7) धू—धुवावा, धुवावी, धुवावे (should wash). (8) ये—यावा, यावी, यावे. (should come).

The subjunctive mood is used to signify :—

- (1) Duty—मी मराठी शिकावे. तिने अभ्यास करावा.
 (2) Doubt or Probability—यंदां फार थंडी पडावी, उद्यां पत्र यावे. तो पास व्हावा. ती बाई घरीं असावी.
 (3) Permission—मी आंत यावे काय? मुलांनीं घरीं जावे काय?
 (4) Habitual Action—त्यानें लहानपणीं नेहमीं खेळावे.
 कचाने रोज सकाळीं लवकर उठोवे, गाईची सेवा करावी, नंतर कंद मुळें समिधा आणाव्या, गाईना रानांत न्यावे, गुरुंना सर्वदां प्रसन्न ठेवावे, असा त्याचा नित्य क्रम होता.

This is a good illustration of subjunctive mood expressing one's habits. This sort of expression can be substituted by imperative verbs as shown below.

रोज सकाळीं उठ, गाईची सेवा कर, कंद मुलें समिधा आण, गाईना रानांत ने, गुरुंना सर्वदां प्रसन्न ठेव, असा कचाचा नित्यक्रम होता.

(5) Imperative—यावे, साहेब, खुर्चीवर बसावे.

(6) Wonder—काय! तुम्हीं छद्दां असें म्हणावे?

(7) A substitute for present tense—फुल झाड पाहावे तों हिरवे दिसते, आणि फुलें पहावीं तर पांढरीं.

The Subjunctive Mood takes the compound tenses as shown below :—

(1) तो काम करीत असावा (Imperfect). (2) त्यानें काम केले असावे (Perfect). (3) तो काम करणार असावा (Prospective).

The Past tense of subjunctive forms is obtained in two ways :—

(1) त्यानें बाहेर जावे will be त्यानें बाहेर जावे होतें or त्यानें बाहेर जायचें होतें he should have gone out.

(2) त्यानें बाहेर बसावे will be त्यानें बाहेर बसावे होतें or बसायचें होतें he should have sat outside.

The Conditional Mood

The following are the types of sentences, the formation and use of which is to be considered in these pages.

(1) Conditional (Simple tense).

If he comes to me, I shall give him the book जर तो मजकडे आला तर मी त्याला पुस्तक देईन.

(2) Conditional (Compound tense).

If he is going to Bombay, it will be well जर तो मुंबईस जात असला तर बरें होईल.

If he has gone to 'Nagar, he will bring my book जर तो नगराला गेला असला तर माझे पुस्तक आणील.

If you are about to go, then he will also come जर तुम्ही जाणार असला तर तोही येईल.

(3) Conditional (Contrary to fact).

तो नगराला जाता तर माझे पुस्तक आणता or तो नगराला गेला असता तर त्याने माझे पुस्तक आणलें असतें Had he gone to 'Nagar, he would have brought my book.

The clear understanding of the construction is a most important point in the study of the Marathi Conditional Mood. No satisfactory exposition can be put before English speaking students, who are inclined to compare it with English expressions in their various shades of meaning. English is copious and offers many sentences in this mood which cannot be so variously rendered in Marathi. In this mood there are generally two sentences, one of which expresses either doubt or supposition. Both are joined by the subordinating conjunctions like 'If', 'then', etc., e.g., 'जर', 'तर'.

There are two types of Conditionals :—

(1) Ordinary Conditionals, and (2) Contrary to fact.

In Marathi the ordinary conditional sentences indicate that the truth of the principal sentence depends upon the truth of the subordinate sentence.

In this sense the verb of the subordinate clause is generally put in the past tense and sometimes in the future tense. Simple tense in English takes simple tense in Marathi, so also compound tenses take compound tenses. The element of fact or doubt depends upon the context :—

जर तो आला तर मी बाहेर जाईन means—

- (1) If he comes, I shall go out.
- (2) If he came, I shall go out.
- (3) If he will come, I shall go out.
- (4) If he should come, I will go out.
- (5) If he were to come, I shall go out.

Sometimes “would” is used for present and future time in Conditional sentences.

(1) Would that he were young again ! तो पुन्हा तरुण होईल तर किती चांगलें होईल !

(2) It would not be wise if you avoid lessons तुम्ही आपले घडे चुकवाल तर शहाणपणाचें होणार नाहीं.

(3) I would not play, should it rain पाऊस पडला तर मी खेळणार नाही.

The above-mentioned sentences clearly indicate the following rules :—

I

The affirmative or negative verb in a simple tense can be translated into Marathi either in the past tense or, in the future tense; but generally in the former:—

(1) It will be well, if she reads the book जर तिने पुस्तक वाचिले तर बरे होईल.

(2) I shall thank her, if she will send me a watch तिने मला घड्याळ पाठविले तर मी तिचे आभार मानीन.

(3) Do read the book if the Pandit printed it पंडितांनी पुस्तक छापिले तर ते जरूर वाचा.

II

The second step in the construction of conditional sentences is to know how to translate compound verbs from English into Marathi:—

The auxiliary verb असणे with its forms of Past or Future Tense are to be joined to the respective participles of verbs.

(1) Give him the book if he is going to Poona.

जर तो पुण्याला जात असला तर त्याला पुस्तक द्या.

(Neg.) जर तो पुण्याला जात नसला तर त्याला पुस्तक देऊ नका.

(2) It will be well, if she has read the book.

तिने पुस्तक वाचलें असलें तर बरें होईल.

(Neg.) तिने पुस्तक वाचलें नसलें तर बरें होणार नाही.

(3) I will come with you if you are going to 'Nagar' जर आपण नगरला जाणार असला तर मीही येईन.

Give her the book to read, if she is not going to play ती जर खेळणार नसली तर तिला वाचायला पुस्तक द्या.

(4) I will help him if he has to learn Marathi जर त्याला मराठी शिकायचें असेल तर मी मदत करीन.

(5) He will take the book if he wants to read it त्याला पुस्तक वाचायला पाहिजे असलें तर तो घेऊन जाईल.

(6) I will buy the book if you want it आपणांस पुस्तक पाहिजे असेल तर मी विकत घेईन.

III

Some sentences are conditional in form. They are joined by the conjunctions जर—तर. But when such sentences are a part of conversation, they express truth. The verb of the principal sentence is used in the present tense. Such sentences are:—

(1) मी जर एथें आहे तर तुम्ही मला ती गोष्ट कां विचारीत नाही.

(2) बोटांत जर आंगठी आहे तर ती पहाण्यास आरसा नको.

(3) जर मी तुम्हांस पुस्तक देतो आहे तर तुम्ही कां घेत नाही?

(4) जर आवा रागवतात तर रागावूं द्या.

(5) तुम्ही जांभळें खातां तर खुशाल खा.

Above we have seen many sentences of the type of ordinary conditional forms. They lead us on to the consideration of another difficult point—that of Doubt. In English such sentences presuppose doubt. They are Dubitative conditional sentences. In Marathi we have to divide this ordinary conditional into two parts :—(1) Conditional with doubt. (2) Conditional without doubt.

I Dubitative sentences—(a) The Indefinite future tense is used to suggest doubt, e.g., (1) तो येईल तर मी त्याला बक्षीस देईन. (2) रामा दगड उचलील तर बरे होईल. (3) तुम्ही तें पुस्तक आणाल तर मी वाचीन.

or -

(b) Forms असला-ली-लें etc., joined to present, past, or future participles suggest an idea of doubt.

- (1) तो वाचीत असला तर त्याला त्रास देऊ नका.
- (2) ती आली असली तर तिला बसायला सांगा.
- (3) तो मुलगा जर येणार असला तर त्याला पाठवा.

All conditional sentences express doubt to some extent but with असला, etc., it becomes more prominent. These are called Dubitative sentences.

I

Conditional without doubt

The Europeans will not understand this at all as this use is curious. These are formal conditional sentences, in which जर-तर sometimes mean “when.” In such sentences the degree of doubt is less, or is merely formally expressed.

- (1) एका पैशाला जर दोन आंबे मिळतात तर चार पैशाला किती ?
- (2) तू बाहेर जातोस तर तुझें पुस्तक मला दे.
- (3) तुम्ही पोष्टांत जातांच आहां तर माझें एवढें पत्र टाका.
- (4) जर तुम्ही येणारच आहां तर माझी पेटी आणा please bring my box if you are to come tomorrow.

Conditional sentences are always complex sentences, but there are some ways to express them without the use of जर-तर. They are four :—

(1) The dependent clause can be joined to the principal clause by म्हणजे or की (then) instead of जर and तर. पुष्कळ काम केलें तर थकवा येतो. One gets tired, if one works hard; becomes (a) पुष्कळ काम केलें म्हणजे थकवा येतो. or (b) पुष्कळ काम केलें की थकवा येतो.

(2) This complex sentence may be transformed into a simple sentence by putting the past participle of the verb from the dependent clause into the dative स or sometimes into the instrumental case :—फार काम केलें तर थकवा येतो may be changed into (a) फार काम केल्यास थकवा येतो; or (b) फार काम केल्याने थकवा येतो.

(3) The dependent clause may be connected to the principal clause by using असा between the two sentences, or sometimes by using the pluperfect participle of the verb from the subordinate clause :—Hence फार काम केलें तर थकवा येतो becomes फार काम केलें असतां थकवा येतो ; or (b) फार काम करून थकवा येतो.

(4) The negative conditional sentence can be joined to the principal clause by using the past participle crude form to शिवाय or वांचून, जर काम केलें नाही तर बरें वाटत नाही becomes, काम केल्यावांचून बरें वाटत नाही or काम केल्याशिवाय बरें वाटत नाही or काम केल्याविना बरें वाटत नाही One does not feel fresh if one does not work.

II

Conditional

(Contrary to fact.)

This is really a mood. The statements made in both sentences are doubtful—nay, sometimes quite contrary to the actual happening. The mood has its special conjugation of verbs which does not indicate the element of time. The time element is expressed by time-indicating adverbs like काल, मागे, पूर्वी for the past tense, आतां, आज for the present tense, and पुढें, उद्यां, मग for the future tense.

The conditional forms have to be used in both the subordinate and the principal clauses. In English this mood is used in the following ways:—

1. If I were young, it would be nice मी तरुण असतीं तर बरें होतें.

2. If my friend Ram were not your father, I should have killed you just now माझा मित्र राम तुझा बाप नसता तर मी तुला आतांच्या आतां ठार मारलें असतें.

3. Had he a son, he would not have adopted another boy जर त्याला मुलगा असता, तर त्यानें दुसरा मुलगा दत्तक घेतला नसता.

(4) If it had rained, I would not have gone, पाऊस पडला असता तर मी गेलों नसतों. My father would have caught the thieves, had they not run away जर चोर पळाले नसते तर माझ्या बापानें त्यांना पकडलें असतें.

From the careful reading of the above sentences; one is sure to see the fitness of the name given to this mood. This mood is conditional Contrary to Fact; now we shall consider the facts of the above sentences.

The facts are in order:—

(1) मी तरुण नाहीं; हें बरें नाहीं. These facts are expressed in this mood thus:—मी तरुण असतों तर बरें होतें.

(2) राम तुझा मित्र आहे; म्हणून मी त्याला ठार मारीत नाहीं.

(3) त्यानें मुलगा दत्तक घेतला, कारण त्याला मुलगा नव्हता.

(4) पाऊस पडला नाहीं म्हणून मी गेलों.

(5) चोर पळाले, म्हणून माझ्या बापानें त्यांना पकडलें नाहीं.

चोर पळाले म्हणून माझ्या बापाने त्यांना पकडले नाही. Hence it is clear that the affirmative fact can be put into the negative form or the negative fact can be put into the affirmative form in contrary to fact mood:—

Let us change the following facts into this mood:—

(1) त्या मनुष्याला मुलगा नव्हता म्हणून त्याने दत्तक घेतला. The man had no son, and so he adopted one.

Contrary to Fact.

त्या मनुष्याला मुलगा असता तर त्याने दत्तक घेतला नसता.

(2) मी पंडिताला भेटलो नाही कारण ते घरी नव्हते. I did not see the Pandit because he was not in the house.

Contrary to Fact

जर पंडित घरी असते तर मी त्यांना भेटलो असतो.

(3) त्याने दुसरे पुस्तक पाहिले नाही म्हणून त्याचा गैरसमज झाला. Changed into Contrary to Fact, त्याने दुसरे पुस्तक पाहिले असते तर त्याचा गैरसमज झाला नसता.

This sort of exercise and drilling will properly fix this mood. This should be resorted to, when such sentences occur in the course of reading the texts.

Conjugation of Verbs

The verbs have either simple or compound forms in this mood. The endings are those of the present tense, indicative mood with some alterations which deserve notice.

It takes either object or neuter construction, with past participles.

Note—With the past form, the subject of transitive verbs, with the exception of anomalous verbs, is used in the instrumental case.

These forms—simple and compound—are used as shown below :—

(1) Intransitive verb.

(a) It would be well if it had rained जर पाऊस पडता तर बरें होतें (simple). जर पाऊस पडला असता तर बरें झालें असतें (compound form).

(2) Transitive verb.

If he had brought the book, she would have given him the money.

(a) जर तो पुस्तक आणित्ता तर ती त्याला पैसे देती.

(b) जर त्याने पुस्तक आणिले असते तर तिने त्याला पैसे दिले असते, (compound form).

A General Note.

(1) The negative form of the simple construction is made by putting न before the verb while in the compound form न is joined to असणे to form नसणे.

(a) जर मी पुण्याला न जाते तर मला पुस्तक न मिळते.

(b) जर मी पुण्याला गेलं नसते तर मला पुस्तक मिळालं नसते.

(2) The continuity of action is indicated by the use of the present participle जर ती बाई नेहमीं गात असती तर बरे झाले असते : while the prospective sense is brought out by the use of future participles.

(a) जर रामा धडा करणार असता तर बरे होतं.

(b) जर तूं येणार असतास तर तीही आली असती

The Tense of Conditional Sentences.

The form of the verb, by itself indicates no time. It is the time-indicating adverb that serves this purpose. e.g., जर तो आला असता तर मी त्याला चाकू दिला असता, indicates neither future nor past nor present time by itself. The time may be ascertained in some cases from the context ; otherwise it can only be found by observing the adverb.

Present Tense

(1) कर्तरि=तो आतां जातां तर बरें होतें. (2) कर्मणि=त्यानें आज पुस्तक वाचलें असतें तर मीं नेलें असतें. (3) भावे=मुलीनें आतां भावाला पाहिलें असतें तर तिनें त्याला घरीं बोलाविलें असतें.

Past Tense.

(1) कर्तरि=तो काल आला असता तर बरें होतें. (2) कर्मणि=त्यानें पूर्वींच पत्र वाचलें असतें तर त्यानें उत्तर लिहिलें असतें. (3) भावे=तिनें काल मला पाहिलें असतें तर बरें होतें.

Future Tense.

(1) कर्तरि=तो उद्यां येता तर बरें होतें. (2) कर्मणि=त्यानें उद्यां तें काम केलें असतें तर बरें होतें (3) भावे=त्यानें मला उद्यां बोलाविलें असतें तर मी त्याला भेटलों असतो.

Constructions

(प्रयोग.)

The construction of a verb means its agreement with the uninflected word in the sentence. When the verb agrees with its subject in number, gender, and person, the agreement is called 'कर्तरि' 'Subjective'. When the verb agrees with its object the agreement is called 'कर्मणि' 'Objective.' When both the subject and the object are inflected, the verb is neuter singular and then the agreement is called 'भावे' 'Neuter.' In so-called "Impersonal verbs," the verb is likewise in the neuter singular. Then the agreement is called 'भावकर्तृक' 'Impersonal.' Thus the constructions are:—

- (1) कर्तरि—(सकर्मक) तो मराठी शिकला.
(अकर्मक) तो मुलगा बाहेर बसला.
- (2) कर्मणि—त्याच्याने पत्र वाचवते.
हरीने पेटी उघडली.
- (3) भावे—(सकर्मक) त्याने मला कारभारी नेमिले.
(अकर्मक) त्याने जावे; हरीला चालवते.
- (4) भावकर्तृक—आतां सहा वाजतां उजाडते.
पुण्यांत फार उकडते.

These constructions have to be traced to four moods.

(1) In the Indicative Mood the construction is कर्तरि excepting the past tense, the perfect tenses and the genitive supines of transitive verbs. The potential verbs take either the object or the neuter constructions in all tenses, e.g., तो चालतो; ती काम करिते; मी पुस्तक आणीन; तो पाणी प्याला; तो पुस्तक वाचणार आहे; मी काम करीत आहे are instances of subject constructions, while त्याने काम केले; त्याला काम केले पाहिजे; त्याला काम करावे लागते; त्याला काम करावयाचे आहे; त्याला काम करवते are instances of objective construction. त्याने मला बोलाविले; त्याला गेले पाहिजे; त्याला जावे लागते; त्याला जावयाचे होते are instances of neuter construction.

(2) In the Imperative Mood, the construction is always subjective, e.g., तो जावो; तूं काम कर; तो काम करो; ते पुस्तके वाचोत, etc.

(3) In the Subjunctive Mood, the intransitive verbs take the subject or neuter construction, e.g., तो घरी जावा; त्यानें घरी जावें, while the transitive verbs take either the objective or neuter construction.

(1) त्यानें गाडी करावी; (2) त्यानें मला भेटावें.

(4) Conditional Mood.

In the 'contrary to fact' conditional the simple forms of verbs of either kind take the subjective construction, e.g., जर पाऊस पडता तर बरें होतें; जर तो काम करीत असता तर मी त्याला पैसे देतों; जर ती पुस्तक आणणार असती तर बरें होतें; while the sentences with past participles of transitive verbs take either the object or neuter construction.

Objective Construction.

जर त्यानें काम केलें असतें तर तिनें त्याला पैसे दिले असते.
जर तिनें पुस्तक पाहिलें असतें तर तिनें तें विकत घेतलें असतें.

Neuter Construction.

जर त्यानें मला पाहिलें असतें तर बरें होतें.
जर मी त्याला बोलाविलें नसतें तर बरें होतें.

I

Subject Construction.

This construction is possible in the following cases :—

(अकर्मक कर्तरि.)

(1) With intransitive verbs in the indicative mood and optionally in the subjunctive mood. e.g., तो खाली बसला; तो आज यावा.

(सकर्मक कर्तरि 2 & 3.)

(2) With all transitive verbs and causative verbs in all tenses of the indicative mood except the past and the perfect tenses e.g., तो पुस्तक वाचील; ती पुस्तक वाचीत होती; देव मला चालवितो; देव पाऊस पाडील etc.

(3) With anomalous verbs in all tenses of the indicative mood e.g., तो मराठी शिकला; ती मला भेटेल; ती पाणी प्याली; कुत्रा प्राणास मुकला; त्या बाया कविता म्हणाल्या.

(4) With the simple form of the conditional contrary to fact e.g., जर तो जाता तर बरें होतें; जर ती पुस्तक उघडती तर तिला चित्र दिसतें.

(5) With verbal compounds taking the nominative subject, e.g., तो गेला पाहिजे; तो जायचा होता.

II

Objective Construction.

(कर्मणि प्रयोग.)

This construction is possible in the following cases.

All transitive and causative verbs take this in:—

(1) The Past Tense—त्याने धडा वाचला. देवाने पाऊस पाडला. लोकांनी त्याचा द्वेष केला.

(2) Perfect Tenses—देवाने दुष्काल घालविला आहे. त्याने पुस्तक फाडले होते.

(3) Subjunctive Mood when the object is uninflected.

(a) त्याने धडा वाचावा. (b) तिने लेखणी करावी. (p) देवाने पाऊस पाडावा. (c) त्याने गाय घरावी, but देवाने पावसास पाडावे and त्याने गाईस घरावे will be instances of Neuter construction.

(4) The Potential forms of transitive verbs take this construction with uninflected object, the agent always being inflected :—

(1) त्याच्याने काम करवते (Present tense). (2) त्याला काम करवेल (Future tense).

(5) In some verbs like आवडणे, वाटणे, मिळणे, दिसणे, कळणे, समजणे and सांपडणे, the agent is put in the dative case, and therefore the verbs agree with their objects in present, past and future tenses :—

(1) त्याला घोडा आवडतो, (2) तिला पत्र मिळाले, (3) मला खुर्ची सांपडली, (4) तुम्हांला ती बातमी समजली काय? (5) त्या मुलग्याला आनंद वाटतो.

(This view of regarding these verbs as transitive is not accepted by some of the Marathi Grammarians. In their opinion they are intransitive verbs and take the subjective construction. This is a debatable point.)

(6) Anomalous verbs with uninflected objects take the object construction in the subjunctive mood:—

(a) त्यानें धडा विसरावा. (b) तिनें चहा प्यावा. (c) त्यानें कविता म्हणूं नये. (d) तिनें मराठी न शिकावें. (e) तिनें नेहमीं वाट चुकावी.

(7) The conditional compound form of the contrary to fact takes this construction when the object is uninflected:—

जर त्यानें धडा वाचला असता तर मी त्याला अर्थ विचारला असता.

(8) Obligational verbal compounds of the transitive verbs with uninflected objects are used in this construction.—e.g.,

(1) त्याला औषध घेतलें पाहिजे. (n) (2) त्याला गाडी करावी लागते. (f) (3) त्याला धडा करावयाचा होता. (m)

III

Neuter Construction

(भावे प्रयोग.)

This construction is possible when both the subject and the object are inflected. The personal objects are generally inflected. The sentence तो मला बोलावतो becomes त्यानें मला बोलाविलें in the past tense. And here the subject and the object are both inflected and therefore the construction is Neuter.

The neuter construction is found:—

(1) With the transitive verb taking an inflected object in the past tense or perfect tenses.

(सकर्मक भावे 2 & 3)

(a) त्यानें मला पाहिलें; आईनें मला पाठविलें आहे—होतें—असेल; त्यानें रामाला मारिलें होतें.

(2) With a transitive verb taking an inflected object in the subjunctive mood.

त्यानें कुठ्यास धरावें; आईनें मला बोलवावें; त्यानें मला घरीं आणावें.

(3) With a transitive potential verb taking an inflected object.

त्याच्यानें मला मारवतें; मला तिला आणवत नाही; त्याच्यानें मला चांगल्या स्थितींत पाहावत नाही.

(अकर्मक भावे 4 & 5).

(4) With an intransitive verb in the subjunctive mood:—त्यानें जावें; मीं बसावें; रामानें हंसावें.

(5) With an intransitive verb in the potential form:—माझ्यानें घरीं जावतें; त्याला गाडींत बसवतें;

(6) With verbal compounds like उत्पन्न करणें; 'to create' खूष करणें; 'to please' संतुष्ट करणें; 'to satisfy' in the past tense:—देवानें मला उत्पन्न केलें; मुलांनीं आईबापांना संतुष्ट करावें; पत्नीनें पतीस नेहमीं खूष ठेवावें etc.

(7) For factitive verbs like मानणें, to consider नेमणें, 'to appoint' समजणें 'to regard' म्हणणें 'to say' and करणें 'to do', निवडणें 'to choose', in the past tense, perfect tenses and in the subjunctive mood:—
 रामानें मारुतीला मित्र मानिल्लें; मुलांनीं शिक्षकास पूज्य मानावें; शिक्षकांनीं रामाला चिटणीस नेमिल्लें; बादशहानें लॉर्ड आयर्विनला व्हाईसराय नेमिल्लें; त्यानें मला भाऊ समजावें; रामानें मला नेहमीं बाळ म्हणावें व मीं त्याला दादा म्हणावें. लोकांनीं रामाला राजा केल्लें; सभासदांनीं पटेलना अध्यक्ष केल्लें or निवडलें.

(8) The obligational verbal compounds also take this construction.

(a) मला पुण्याला गेलें पाहिजे. (b) मला पुण्याला जावयाचें आहे.
 (c) मला पुण्याला जावें लागलें. (d) मला कुठ्यास मारावें लागतें.
 (e) आईला मुलास दररोज शाळेंत पाठवावें लागतें. (f) लग्नाचे वेळीं वधूनें वरास व वरानें वधूस वचन द्यावें लागतें. (g) मुलाच्या आईनें मुलास ओवाळावें लागतें.

IV

Impersonal Construction

Some verbs फावणें; उजाडणें; सांजावणें; have no word to agree with. They agree with the action itself. Hence they are always used in the neuter singular;—

मला फावलें तर येईन. I will come if I have leisure.
 आतां सहा वाजतां उजाडतें. Now, the sun rises at six.
 कधीं कधीं पांच वाजतां सांजावतें. अलीकडे फार उकडतें.

*A General Note.Peculiar and Irregular Constructions*I

Verbs like, स्नान करें 'to bathe' फराळ करें 'to lunch' and धुणें 'to wash' optionally take the subject construction.

(1) He took a bath = तो स्नान केला or त्याने स्नान केलें.

(2) He should lunch = तो फराळ करावा or त्याने फराळ करावा.

(3) He washed his mouth = तो तोंड धुतला or त्याने तोंड धुतलें.

(4) He should wash his mouth = तो तोंड धुवावा or त्याने तोंड धुवावें.

Of these, those with the subject construction are not much used, while the others are common.

II

In the object construction if the subject is second personal pronoun, singular or plural, i.e., तूं or तुम्हीं the verb is attracted by it, and partly agrees with both the subject and the object.

You read the book (1) तूं पुस्तक वाचिलेंस.

(2) तुम्हीं पुस्तक वाचिलेंत.

You should take the book (1) तूं पुस्तक घ्यावेंस.

(2) तुम्हीं पुस्तक घ्यावेंत.

In the above sentences स and त are grammatically wrong but usage has accepted such sentences, hence the students should note the remark "Used but not grammatical."

III

Sometimes in the objective construction the verb agrees with the inflected object. In such cases the verb ought to be neuter singular, but idiom has accepted this usage.

Hari beat his brother हरिने भावाला मारिला.

The mother sent the girl out आईने मुलीला बाहेर पाठविली.

He saw the girls playing त्याने मुलींना खेळतांना पाहिल्या.

He should send her away त्याने तिला दूर पाठवावी.

These are used but not grammatically correct.

IV

Anomalous verbs with inanimate objects take the object construction, and with personal objects, take the neuter construction in the Subjunctive Mood, e.g., त्याने घडा विसरावा; तिने कविता म्हणावी (obj. cons. कर्मणि) त्याने मला भेटावे; रामाने हरीला चावावे (neu. cons भावे)

V

As a rule the inanimate object of a transitive verb is uninflected, but when personified such objects may be inflected.

Object Construction—देवानें दुष्काळ घालवावा; मनुष्यानें सत्य सोडूं नये; मीं आंबा खाऊं नये; प्रत्येकानें धर्म पाळावा.

Neuter Construction—देवानें दुष्काळास घालवावें; मनुष्यानें सत्यातें सोडूं नये; मीं आंब्याला खाऊं नये (very rare but मी आंब्याला खाऊन काय करूं is very common); प्रत्येकानें धर्मास पाळावें.

Verbs like समजणें 'to understand'; पांघरणें 'to cover'; आचरणें 'to practise'; चुकणें 'to miss'; take either subject or object construction.

1. मी गोष्ट समजलों or मला गोष्ट समजली.
2. तो शाल पांघरला or त्यानें शाल पांघरली.
3. मी धर्म आचरावा or मीं धर्म आचरावा.
4. तो वाट चुकावा or त्यानें वाट चुकावी.

VI

As a general rule the verb agrees with the subject or with the direct object but in some cases it seems to agree with the factive object.

(1) त्यानें रामास अध्यक्ष नेमिलें (neu. con. भावे), or (2) त्यानें रामास अध्यक्ष नेमिला (obj. con. कर्मणि).

The first is grammatically right, the second is used but not grammatical.

The following are some of the cases in which there is great difference of opinion as to the correct construction.

(a) Obligational verbal compounds of intransitive verbs, त्याला or त्याने बाहेर बसलें पाहिजे. In this, बसलें पाहिजे is a compound verb, and as there is no nominative in the sentence, we call it भावे प्रयोग. According to others it is impersonal (अकर्तृक). There is a third view to consider बसलें (बसणें) as the subject of पाहिजे and then to assign कर्तरि प्रयोग to the sentence.

(b) त्याला बाहेर जावयाचें आहे. Here as in the above sentence the construction is भावे. It is reasonable to call it impersonal construction. Some regard जावयाचें as the subject of आहे and consider it as कर्तरि प्रयोग.

(c) त्याला बाहेर फिरावें लागतें. In this there is a compound verb and in the absence of the nominative we consider it as neuter or impersonal construction.

(d) त्याला धडा वाचावयाचा आहे. In this वाचावयाचा आहे is a compound verb, the agent is in the dative and as वाचणें is a transitive verb it agrees with its object धडा, so it is कर्मणि प्रयोग. Another view is to regard धडा as the subject of आहे. वाचावयाचा as the predicative adjective of धडा and then to regard the sentence as one of कर्तरि प्रयोग.

N. B.—We think that the verbal compound should not be split in ascertaining the construction, because in doing so, the auxiliary verb is given more importance while the principal verb is set aside.

VIII

The construction of passive sentences is again a subject of difference of opinion.

Active Voice.

रामा काम करितो is a sentence of कर्तरि प्रयोग.

Passive Voice.

रामानें काम केलें or रामाकडून काम केलें जातें or रामाकडून काम करण्यांत येतें are sentences of कर्मणि प्रयोग.

तो मला पाहातो

त्याच्याकडून मी पाहिला जातो.

रामाकडून काम केलें जातें and करण्यांत येतें are considered as types of कर्तरि by some; but this is not accepted by learned grammarians.

IX

Some of the catchy sentences

- (1) रामाचें काम करून झालें Rama finished his work (कर्मणि प्र.)
- (2) त्यानें माझे बोलून घेतलें. The word बोलणें is supposed to be understood and the construction is कर्मणि.
- (3) त्याचें वाचायचें झालें. The word काम is understood after वाचायचें and the sentence is कर्तरि
- (4) तो अध्यक्ष झाल्याचें मी ऐकिलें. In this वर्तमान (news) is understood after झाल्याचें and the construction is कर्मणि.
- (5) त्यानें सांगितलें कीं मी उद्यां येईन—सांगितलें agrees with the noun clause मी उद्यां येईन, so it takes the objective construction.

(6) त्याला दूध पिणे आवडते or त्याला दूध प्यायला आवडते or त्याला दूध प्यायचे आवडते (He likes to drink milk) are instances of the objective construction.

(7) त्या मुलाला चालतां येते is impersonal or neuter construction. According to some grammarians चालतां is supposed to be used as a noun being the subject of येते and so the construction is कर्तरि (subject).

(8) त्या मुलाला पुस्तक वाचतां येते or वाचावयास येते is also an instance of कर्मणि प्रयोग. The participle is transitive, so मुलाला is the subject, पुस्तक is the object, and वाचतां येते a compound verb; so the construction is कर्मणि.

(9) त्यानें साखर खात जावी. In this sentence if खात जावी is taken to be a compound verb, then the construction is कर्मणि, (He should always eat sugar). While if the sentence means, (He should go on eating sugar), then the construction must be त्यानें—साखर खात—जावे, and it takes भावे प्रयोग.

(10) त्यानें मला बसू दिलें—Neuter construction, but if बसू is supposed to be a noun, then it is objective construction; the transitive infinitives take कर्मणि, त्यानें मला पुस्तक (n) वाचू दिलें, त्यानें मला गाडी (f) करू दिली, तिनें त्याला घोडा (m) पाहू दिली.

CHAPTER VII.

Repetition of Words

In Marathi words are repeated sometimes to emphasize or sometimes to modify their meaning. There are three principal modes of repeating words. They are : -

- (1) To repeat the same word, e.g., पानपान, कवडीकवडी.
- (2) To repeat words with a little modification, पुस्तकबिस्तक; कामबिम; भाकरीबिकरी.
- (3) To repeat words to express sounds and actions, काव,काव; धो,धो; धाड,धाड; खो,खो; etc.

Repetition of Nouns

The nouns are repeated to show :—

(1) Distribution—तो कवडीकवडी करून पैसे सांठवितो
He stores money by coweries. So also, ती रानन्
रान फिरली. त्यानें घरन्घर जाळून टाकलें.

(2) Mutual relation—भाऊ भाऊ भांडत नसतात. जावा जावा
नेहमीं भांडतात. बहिणी बहिणी अगदीं बरोबर जातात. आपण शाळा शाळा
खेळूं.

(3) Cumulation—त्यानें राशीच्या राशी मोजल्या. महमुदानें
गांवचे गांव जाळून टाकले. तो रात्रीच्या रात्री वाचीत असतो. तो तासचे तास
खेळत असतो.

(4) Identity—आई ती आई. लोक ते लोक. कांहीं झालें तरी
भाऊ ते भाऊ.

(5) Idiomatic repetitions without any special meaning :—पुस्तक बिस्तक; भिकारी बिकारी; खाणा खुणा, तो दिवसान् दिवस वाळत चालला. त्याने आपली पैन् पै गरिबांस वांटून टाकिली. त्याला कांहीं लिहिणें पुसणें येतें काय? त्याने लाडवाचा तुकडान् तुकडा खाऊन टाकला. घरोंघर 'in every house', so also दारोदार, गांवोगांव, रानोरान, etc.

Repetition of Pronouns.

मी is repeated to show boastfulness :— तो अगदीं 'मी' 'मी' म्हणत होता, मग कसा हो फसला! तूं is repeated to show the stammering voice of the speaker. तो मुलगा तूंतूंतू करीत बोलत असतो.

The relative pronouns are repeated to show 'every one' जो जो मुलगा व्यायाम करितो, त्याला त्याला बक्षीस मिळतें; जो जो चांगलें शिकवितो त्याचा त्याचा लोक हेवा करितात; In connection with relative pronouns the demonstrative pronouns are also repeated. The interrogative pronouns काय and कोण are repeated to express variety :— तुम्हीं महाबळेश्वरीं काय काय पाहिलें? त्यानें तुम्हांला काय काय दिलें? कोण कोण मुलगे बागेत खेळत होते? कोणी कोणी असें म्हणतात कीं, हें पुस्तक फार उपयोगी आहे.

The indefinite pronouns अमूक and तमूक are repeated to express still more uncertainty.

अमूक अमूक मनुष्य काल आला होता. तो सांगत होता कीं तमकीं तमकीं पुस्तकें उद्यां मला आणून द्या.

Repetition of Adjectives

Adjectives are repeated to express—

(1) Distribution—प्रत्येक बांकावर दोन दोन मुलांनी वसावें. त्यानें प्रत्येक मुलाला पांच पांच फळे दिलीं.

(2) Gradual Progression—शिक्षकानें मुलांना आखुड आखुड काढ्या दिल्या; यंदां पाऊस थोडा थोडा पडत गेला; त्याचा ताप कमी कमी होत चालला आहे; त्यानें मोठमोठी पुस्तके वाचलीं आहेत.

(c) The intensity of colours is thus expressed—

(1) काळा कुळकुळीत; (2) पांढरा सफेत; (3) पिवळा धमक; (4) लाल भडक; (5) हिरवागार; (6) गोरापान, etc.

In Marathi, as in English, there are certain proverbial expressions used in connection with certain colours, e.g., (1) निग्रो लोक कोळशासारखे काळे असतात. (2) चांदणे पिठासारखे पांढरे पडले आहे. (3) झाडांचीं पाने हळदीसारखीं पिवळीं झालीं आहेत. (4) फुलें रक्तासारखीं लाल आहेत. (5) तें गवतासारखें हिरवें आहे. (6) ती बाई केवड्यासारखी गोरी आहे.

CHAPTER VIII.

Sentence-Building

Grammar comprises the consideration of letters, words, and sentences. While learning Marathi by the direct method, the students begin with a sentence which is really the unit of a language. The sentence may be (1) Imperative—शकुंतला, झाडांना पाणी घाल. Shəkuntelā, water the trees. (2) Assertive—शकुंतला झाडांना पाणी घालते. Shəkuntelā waters the trees.

(3) Interrogative-शकुंतला झाडांना पाणी घालते? Does Shākuntalā water the trees? (4) Exclamatory—शकुंतला झाडांना पाणी घालते! What! Shākuntalā waters the trees!

The above are the vehicles of a complete thought. A thought shows the relation between two notions; one notion being affirmed or denied of the other. The first form of the sentence is imperative, that we clearly notice when children begin to speak. They first utter ये [come], जा [go], पी [drink], etc. From this process, they learn to make a statement मी दूध पितों which teaches them to ask the permission of the mother “मी दूध पिऊं काय?” The mother being astonished at the baby’s command of language exclaims “काय! तू दूध पितोस.” In this way the language is grasped. So, of all considerations of Grammar sentence-building is the most important one.

गेला and पितो convey no sense, nor does तो मुलगा or रामा. It is only when we say तो मुलगा गेला and रामा चहा पितो that the sense is complete. Hence to have a complete sentence there is need of a subject and a predicate.

The component parts of the subject may be a noun or a pronoun, or words, and sentences used as nouns. e.g., Noun, हरी मराठी शिकतो. Pronoun, ती

गाणें गाते. Adjective, आंधळे भीक मागतात. A phrase
फार चहा पिणें चांगलें नाहीं. A sentence, ती गांवाला गेली
हें बरें झालें.

In the above sentences we notice the various kinds of sentences with subjects. Now we have to see the cases in which the subjects are used. For this, the considerations on Past and Perfect Tenses, the Subjunctive mood and the three constructions, will help the students and this is already dealt with in the previous pages. Students are therefore requested to read those pages along with this chapter. (1) The Subject is generally used in the Nominative Case in the following sentences :—तो पुस्तक आणितो. कुत्रा रोटी खाईल. आंधळे भीक मागतील. आज पाऊस यावा. तो मुलगा बसला आहे. ती बाई राणी झाली. जर पाऊस पडता तर बरें होतें.

(2) The subject of a transitive verb is used in the instrumental case in connection with :—

(1) The Past Tense:—त्याने पुस्तक आणिलें.

(2) The Perfect Tense:—मुलग्याने पुस्तक वाचलें होतें.

(3) The subjunctive mood:—त्याने पुस्तक विकत घ्यावें.

(4) Pontential verbs:—त्याच्याने पुस्तक वाचवतें काय?

(5) Obligational verbs with लागणें—लग्न समारंभांत नव-
च्याने नकरीच्या बोटांत अंगठी घालावी लागते.

(3) In the following cases the agent is used in the Dative Case:—(1) Potential verbs—ह्याला काम करवतें. (2) As a special case with some verbs like आवडणें, मिळणें, वाटणें, समजणें, दिसणें, लागणें, etc. त्या मुलम्याला दूध आवडतें; मला पत्र मिळालें नाहीं, etc. (3) With obligational verbal compound—(a) त्याला गेलें पाहिजे he must go. (b) त्याला जायचें आहे he wishes to go. (c) त्याला जावें लागलें he had to go.

(4) According to some Grammarians the genitive supine is used as a subject:—मला जावयाचें आहे; त्याचें वसायचें ठरलें, but this view is not accepted by all.

The verb always agrees with the uninflected word in number, gender and person:—तो जातो; तें जातें; ती जाते (जात्ये or जाती have become obsolete) but when there is more than one subject, then the agreement of the verb deserves special notice, for which the following rules should be noted. (1) Subjects of the same gender joined by 'and' take a plural verb:—रामा, गोविंदा आणि हरी खेळतात. (2) If the nouns are joined by 'or' or when they are in apposition with the first noun then the verb is singular (a) रामा किंवा हरी किंवा गोविंदा, कोण खेळतो तें पहा. (b) राम-दशरथाचा मुलगा-लंकेस गेला. (3) If the subjects differ in gender, the verb is neuter plural, रामा आणि त्याची बहीण हीं गांवाला गेलीं. (4) If the subjects denote irrational being or inanimate objects, the verb agrees with the last word :—(a) घोडा, हत्ती आणि नाय रानांत गेली. (b) यावर्षी बाजरी, गहू आणि हरबरा चांगला पिकला आहे. (5) As regards personal pronominal subjects the verb is plural but agrees with the first person in preference to 2nd and 3rd and agrees with the second person in preference to the third, e.g., He and I sat on the mountain, तो आणि मी डोंगरावर बसलों. You, they and I will work, ते, तुम्ही आणि मी काम करूं. You and she will go out ती आणि तुम्ही बाहेर जाल.

Omission of Subject.

In some cases the subject is not expressed. It is understood. They are :—

(1) Imperative Sentences, या, रावसाहेब, बसा. यावे महाराज, बसावे. (2) Conditional clauses with indefinite subject, व्यायाम केला असतां प्रकृति सुधारते. सारखे मराठी बोलले म्हणजे चांगले बोलतां येतें. (3) Passive Sentences, असें म्हणतात कीं यंदा फार उन्हाळा होईल. वेद पांच हजार वर्षांपूर्वी लिहिले गेले. (4) The Speaker's 'I' काय नानासाहेब, येतांना फिरायला? हो, येतोंना! हा पहा आलोंच. (5) Impersonal verbs आतां उजाडले.

Subject in the Neuter Singular

(1) The agent unknown :—कोण बाहेर आले? तिकडे कोण वाचते? तें कोण गातें पहा? (2) Whoever :—गजेल तें पडेल काय आणि बोलेल तें करील काय!

The agreement of the Object

We have seen that the transitive verb agrees with the object in some tenses and moods. In such cases the object has to be uninflected and the exceptions to this rule have been already given. (1) मुलांनीं तळ्यांत दगड फेकिले. (2) मुलांनीं चोरास पकडिलें or पकडिला. (3) त्यानें शिपाई पोष्टांत पाठविला or त्यानें शिपायास पोष्टांत पाठविलें. (4) चाकरानें गाय बांधिली or चाकरानें गाईस बांधिलें.

The agreement of the verb with many objects is exactly like that of verbs agreeing with many subjects :—(1) त्यानें रामा आणि गोविंदा पाहिले (mas. plu.) (2) त्यानें रामा आणि यमी पाहिलीं (neu. plu.) (3) त्यानें वाघ, हत्ती, गाय आणि शेळी पाहिली. In this the verb agrees with the last word (शेळी f.).

The Syntax of the Verb.

The verb agrees with the subject तो दगड फेकितो or it agrees with the object त्यानें दगड फेंकावा, or it agrees with neither त्यानें बहिणीला आणिलें. All these things have already been discussed.

The sentence cannot be complete without a verb and so it has to be expressed, but in the case of the copulative verb 'to be' it is idiomatically omitted in the following cases :—(1) In asking questions, आपलें नांव काय? (2) In giving answers, माझे नांव बापुराव. (3) In proverbs, खाण तशी माती, बीज तसें फळ. (4) In emphatic sentences, पंडीत मोठा हुशार! (5) In definitions, शाळा म्हणजे शिकण्याची जागा. (6) In exclamations काय मोठेपणा हा! (7) In comparisons, कुठे सोने आणि कोठे पितळ, Gold and brass widely differ.

Foreign students find it difficult to translate the following verbs in Marathi. They are:—

To have

(1) I have two hands, मला दोन हात आहेत. He has two sisters, त्याला दोन बहिणी आहेत. In such sentences the verb 'to have' shows inseparable relation. (2) He has a pen, त्याची एक लेखणी आहे. She has an umbrella, तिची एक छत्री आहे. Here the genitive case expresses possession. (3) She has a boy, तिच्याजवळ एक मुलगा आहे. The boy has a dog, त्या मुलगाजवळ एक कुत्रा आहे. जवळ conveys the sense of position.

To ask

It has three different meanings in different connections:—(1) Ask him to sit down त्याला बसायला सांगा. (2) The beggars ask for alms भिकारी भिक मागतात. (3) I asked him his name मी त्याला त्याचे नांव विचारिले.

To see

(1) I saw him walk मी त्याला चालतांना पाहिले. (2) I saw him yesterday मी त्याला काल भेटलो. (3) उद्यां गाल काय? पाहीन (will see—consider.)

To cut

This verb is translated by either कांपणे or तोडणे in Marathi. The first shows careful action while the other shows forceful action. (1) I cut the mango with a knife मी चाकूने आंबा कापतो. (2) He cuts the tree with his axe तो कुऱ्हाडीने झाड तोडतो. Also ती बाई विलीने कांदा चिते (cuts).

To break

This verb has also two synonyms in Marathi. They are मोडणे and फोडणे. The first is used where the thing broken is small and the force used is also light, e.g., तो पेन्सिल मोडतो; मुलें लेखण्या मोडतात. While the second is used with rough things broken with force तो लांकूड फोडतो he breaks the log of wood.

This list is not exhaustive. Students should take special care to note and master such verbs.

Sentence-Structure

In sentence-structure the verb is the most important factor. We have to remember that the place of the verb is the last in a sentence, still in emphatic and colloquial sentences, the verb is placed before the subject. The following sentences illustrate the place of the verb:—(1) चांगला मुलगा नेहमी खरे बोलतो. (The verb is at the end). (2) काय, येत नाहीत नाना? जातो मी पळत आणि आणतो मी त्यांना हात धरून! (here the verbs are emphatically put before the subject).

 (3) एक होता सावकार, त्याला होती एक मुलगी. In such sentences which introduce a story, the verb is idiomatically put before the subject.

Excepting these cases the verb generally ends a sentence. The subject with qualifying words is followed by the object with qualifying words and then the adverb is used along with the verb:—

(1) मुलगा खेळतो. (2) तो चांगला मुलगा बागेंत खेळतो. (3) तो चांगला मुलगा त्या सुंदर बागेंत टेनिस खेळतो. (4) तो चांगला मुलगा त्या सुंदर बागेंत नेहमीं आपल्या मित्रासह टेनिस खेळतो.

In sentence structure commencing with simple sentences containing adjective and adverbial modifiers we develop phrases and clauses and study compound and complex sentences, e.g., (1) The king gave a golden chain to the queen, राजानें राणीला एक सोनेरी सांखळी दिली. (2) The king gave a chain of gold to the queen, राजानें राणीला एक सोन्याची सांखळी दिली. (3) The king gave to the queen a chain which was made of gold, राजानें राणीस जी सांखळी दिली, ती सोन्याची केलेली होती. (4) A chain was made of gold and the king gave it to the queen, एक सोन्याची सांखळी होती; ती राजानें राणीला दिली.

Of these the 1st and 2nd are simple sentences, the third is a complex sentence while the fourth is a compound one. Compound and complex sentences can be reduced to simple sentences by means of pluperfect participles or adverbial present participles, or past participles. (1) He went to Poona and brought back many books. पुण्याला जाऊन त्याने पुष्कळ पुस्तके आणिलीं, (simple). (2) When he was playing, he lost his watch (complex), खेळत असतांना त्याचे घड्याळ हरवले (simple). (3) If he comes to me it will be well (complex), तो मजकडे आल्यास बरे होईल. (simple), (4) I knew that he went to Nagar. (complex), तो नगरला गेल्याचे मला समजले (simple), (5) He saw the cow that was grazing in the field शेतांत चरत असलेली गाय त्याच्या दृष्टीस पडली, (simple).

Elliptical Sentences.

With some verbs, the whole of the noun clause is turned into a phrase, or a noun or an adjective. Such sentences should be marked :—(1) मला बाहेर फिरावेसे वाटते (मी बाहेर फिरावे, असे मला वाटते). (2) तो येईनासा झाला. (3) ती वाचीनाशी झाली. (4) बाबाने मला पतंग करायचे शिकविले. (5) तो आल्याचे मला कळले. Sometimes a phrase in English is put into an object clause in Marathi :—(1) He showed me how to read कसे वाचावे हे त्याने मला दाखविले. He taught me how to make a kite पतंग कसा करावा हे त्याने मला शिकविले.

We have given general rules for the construction of the sentence and advise students to form tences and test their correctness by applying the rules of Grammar. It requires constant practice and is easily mastered if conversation precedes translation.

CHAPTER IX

Rules of Dictation

Generally speaking Marathi is a phonetic language; but sometimes words are written in a way in which they are not pronounced. This leads us to the consideration of nasal signs and the short and long vowels. We shall first of all consider the short and long vowels. To learn this the students are requested to revise the portion on "Crude Forms" under "Substantives." (1) The long vowels of बहीण, जमीन, मीठ, etc. become short, e.g., बहिणीला, जमिनींत, मिठांत, etc.; the short vowels of कवि, बुद्धि, मानु, मति become long कवीचा, बुद्धीने, मानूने, मीतींत, etc. (2) Sanskrit nouns are pronounced long but written short in Marathi, e.g., स्थिति (condition); रुचि (taste); भक्ति (devotion); जाति (caste); मूर्ति (idol); कवि (a poet); and others. (3) Marathi words never end in short इ or उ, e.g., मी, तूं, गाई, गाडी, खोली, खुर्ची, डबी, कोंकरुं, वासरुं, मेंढरुं, लेंकरुं, etc. (4) Conjunctions which are pronounced long but written short, e.g., आणि, तथापि (still); परंतु, अद्यापि (as yet); इत्यादि (etc.). (5) Generally इ or उ of the first syllable is short भित्त, चिमणी, चित्र, कुत्रा, मुलगा. (6) इ of the 2nd Conjugation is short करितो, वाचितो, आणितो, etc., but in the present participle it is long करीत, वाचीत, आणीत, etc. ऊ of infinitives and plu-perfect participles is long :—करूं, बसून्, देऊन्, etc.

अनुस्वार Nasals

This is also dealt with on pages 4 and 5. Here we give some of the additional rules.

(1) Nouns of the neuter gender ending in एं or ईं or ऊं have always अनुस्वार on them :—भांडें, भांडीं; तळें, तळीं; जाळें, जाळीं; डोकें, डोकीं; सोनें, रुपें; तांबें, कोंकरूं, कोंकरें; पांखरूं, पांखरें, etc. The words पाणी and लोणी are exceptions. The masculine noun गहूं has अनुस्वार.

(2) Declinable adjectives and genitive endings have an अनुस्वार, if they are related to words of the neuter gender. शहाणें मूल, शहाणीं मुलें; रामाचें पुस्तक, रामाचीं पुस्तकें; हें घर, हीं घरे, etc.

(3) The endings of the instrumental and locative cases have an अनुस्वार (nasal sign) :—रामानें, मुलाशीं, पायां (पडणें); माथां (on head); घरीं (in the house).

(4) Plural Crude Forms have always अनुस्वार :—मुलांनीं [by children]; मुलांना; मुलांचा; मुलांनो.

(5) The verbal nouns and infinitives have always अनुस्वार :—करणे, देणे, घेणे, बसणे, फिरणे; करुं, देऊं, घेऊं, बसूं, फिरूं. So also करितां or करितांना, देतां or देतांना, घेतां or घेतांना, etc.

(6) Pronouns मीं, आम्हीं, तुम्हीं and कोणीं have अनुस्वार in the instrumental case, while तूं has always अनुस्वार.

(7) Adverbs and post-positions showing place or time or multitude have अनुस्वार :—येथे, कोठे, मार्गे, पुढे, उद्यां, परवां, पूर्वी, पैकीं, पेक्षां, हजारों, शेंकडों, एकदां, पांचदां, हजारदां, etc., but कडे, इकडे, तिकडे, पुन्हा, सुरु, चालू, have no nasal sign on them.

Nasal signs on Verbs.

(1) The verb has अनुस्वार if it agrees with I (मी) we (आम्ही) and you (तुम्ही) मी जातो; आम्ही बसतो; तुम्ही बसतां; (2) The verb has अनुस्वार when it agrees with a pronoun or noun of the neuter gender. मूल चालते, तें रडते, लिंबू आंबट लागते, त्यानें काम केले, तिनें पुस्तकें वाचिलीं. (3) The verbs पाहिजे, नको, नये, नलगे, never take अनुस्वार. (4) The verb has अनुस्वार in भावे प्रयोग—त्यानें जावे, मला चालवते, रामाने मला बोलाविले.

General Note.

These are some of the important rules. The students are advised to have constant practice in transcription and dictation. This will alone give them confidence in correct writing.

Punctuations विराम चिन्हें.

- 1 स्वल्पविराम comma (,) 2 अर्धविराम semi-colon (;)
 3 पूर्णविराम full-stop (.) 4 प्रश्नचिन्ह Interrogation (?)
 5 उद्गारचिन्ह exclamation (!) 6 अवतरणचिन्ह Inverted commas (“—”).

The following story illustrates the use of the above signs :—

कावळा आणि पोपट.

एके दिवशीं एका पोपटाला पेरूचा तुकडा सांपडला, हें एका कावळ्यानें लांबून पाहिलें. मग तो कावळा पोपटाजवळ आला आणि म्हणाला, “भाऊ, तुला पाहून मला फार आनंद झाला, कारण आपली भेट होऊन पुष्कळ दिवस झाले.” हें ऐकून पोपट आश्चर्यानें विचारतो, “काय म्हणतोस! मी तुझा भाऊ! तर मग मी हिरवा कसा रे? तुझ्या आणि माझ्या शरिरांत मुळीच सारखेपणा कां बरें नाहीं? अरे लबाडा, माझा पेरूचा तुकडा घेण्यासाठीं तूं माझ्याशीं लाडीगोडी लावतोस काय? जा निघून कसा!” हें उत्तर ऐकून तो लबाड कावळा उडून गेला.

Use proper punctuations in the following story—

सांगकाम्या चाकर.

एका श्रीमंत मनुष्यानें एक चाकर नौकरीस ठेविला एके दिवशीं त्यानें त्याला सांगितलें कीं मी बाहेरून परत येईपर्यंत दाराकडे पाहात बैस यावर तो म्हणाला बरें आहे साहेब मग कांहीं वेळानें एक मनुष्य त्या घरांत शिरला व पैशाची पेटी घेऊन निघून गेला चाकर दाराकडे पाहातच होता कांहीं वेळानें मालक परत येऊन पाहता तो पेटी नाहीं तेव्हां तो चाकरास म्हणाला पेटी कोठें आहे चाकर म्हणाला एका मनुष्यानें नेली काय मनुष्यानें नेली तूं काय करीत होतास चाकर म्हणाला साहेब आपल्या हुकुमाप्रमाणें मी दाराकडे पाहात होतो
